Homecoming Generates Excitement

Homecoming festivities, 1979, took place on September 28 before the Lockhart game. During the week before the game, the student body elected the queen and her court. In the pre-game ceremony, Candy Warren, a senior was crowned queen. Junior Barbara Warren was named first-runner-up.

On the Friday afternoon of the game, the senior class sponsored a parade through town featuring the contestants and their sponsors. After the game the junior class sponsored the annual homecoming dance.

Riding in the Homecoming Parade, Mickie Doar and Eric McCarty smile for onlookers.

After the game, Jeff Bradey and Terri Taylor dance to the beat of the band.

Presiding at the Homecoming assembly, Tammy Cantrell and Cathy Atkins introduce contestants.

In the pre-game activities, Ricky Miller sponsors Vivian Mullins.

At the dance, the band Starfire provides entertainment.

During the assembly program, Tod Wal-drop escorts contestant Kathy Hawkins.

On the field, the new queen, Candy Warren and runner-up Barbara Warren pause as the program ends.

As sponsor Billy Farrar watches, 1979 queen Teresa Smith crowns Candy Warren, the 1980 winner.

Prior to the election of the queen, all contestants and their sponsors are introduced to the student body.

Listening for the election results, Scott Cochran and contestant Sandra Davis participate in pre-game activities.

In the gym, contestants and sponsors wait for the presentation ceremony to begin.

Former student body president, Jimmy Champion presents flowers to runner-up Barbara Warren.

Along the parade route, Ted Blum and Kim Slomsky greet spectators.

Twenty Girls Seek 1980 Miss Cardinal Title

Highlighting the yearbook staff's Miss Cardinal pageant held on November 17 was the introduction of the twenty contestants elected to represent the junior and senior classes. Contestants appeared in both casual and formal competition for the five judges.

In the climax of the event, Barbara Warren was chosen the 1980 queen. Melissa Ramsey and Candy Warren were runners-up.

Singing a duet, Deanna Duncan and Stacey Ayers emphasize the pageant theme, "Come to the Fair."

Cardinal feature editor, Jody Brown introduces the twenty contestants.

Extending a welcome to the audience, Jenny Rollins begins the evening's events.

As the judges complete their scoring, the contestants stand in groups before the audience.

Kim and Heather Ruppe entertain during the pageant.

Tension mounts as the six semi-finalists await the judges' decision.

In the evening gown competition, Susanne Williams smiles for the judges.

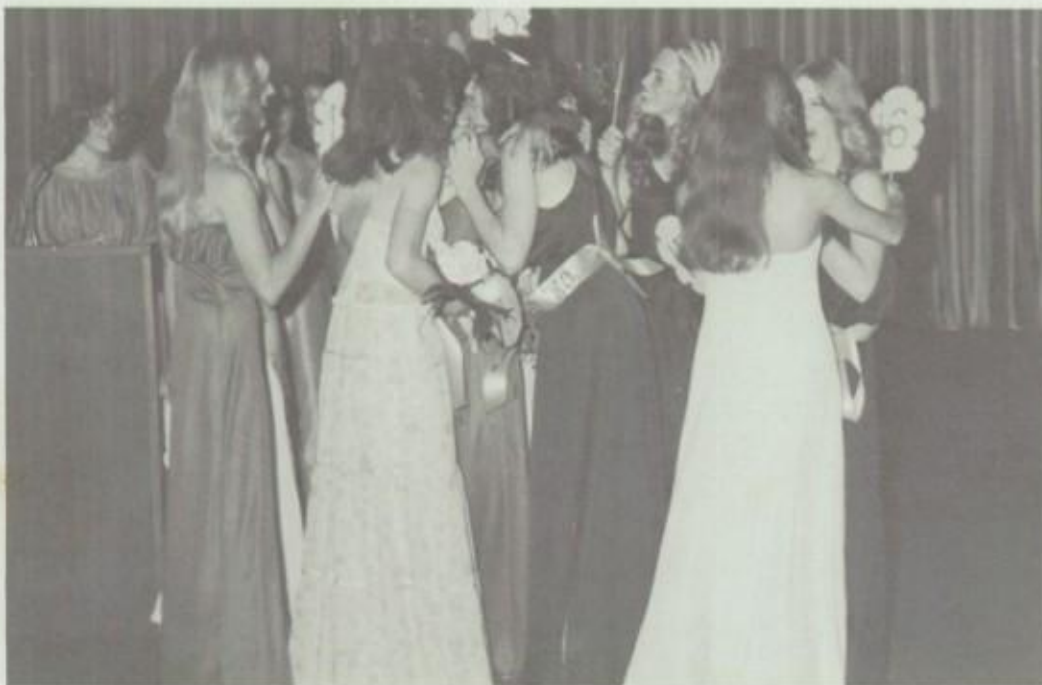

In the center of the stage, Kathy Stott completes her turn.

Tammy Rhymer, last year's queen, crowns Barbara Warren the new Miss Cardinal.

After the pageant is over, the contestants rush to congratulate the winner.

Outstanding Seniors Named To Who's Who

Selected because of their leadership, service and scholarship, ten seniors were named to Who's Who in 1980. The ten were chosen on the basis of the total number of points earned for academic achievement, athletic participation and for service to the school in student government and club activities. Seniors began earning points for the Who's Who honor in the ninth grade. A faculty committee compiled the points and named the seniors who were recognized.

Selected primarily because of his athletic abilities, Eric McCarty is captain of the football team and a member of the baseball and track teams. He has received such honors as All-conference and all-area in baseball and all-conference in football. He was named Player of the Week by station WORD in Spartanburg and Lineman of the Week by the Greenville Touchdown Club. He participated in the North-South All Star Game in Summerville. Eric is also a member of the Block L Club, a senior superlative and president of the FFA.

Chosen to participate in the Governor's School of South Carolina because of his mathematical skills, Tod Waldrop is an academic leader at L.H.S. He is a member of the Beta Club and is the sports editor of the 1980 Cardinal. He has been co-captain of the football team, a member of the Block L Club, a bus driver, and is a senior superlative.

During her high school career, Mickie Doar has been an active participant in many student activities. She is on the tennis and gymnastics teams and is a member of the Block L Club. She is secretary — treasurer of the Student Council and is business manager of the 1980 Cardinal.

After serving as president of her class during both her junior and senior years, Sandra Davis was chosen Most Likely to Succeed by her classmates. This year she has also been a member of the basketball team and the Block L Club.

Elected president of the Beta Club this year, Tim Thompson has been an academic leader throughout his high school career. He participated in the Rotary Leadership Camp and is an active member of the FBLA and the Block L Club. During his junior year, he was named a Furman Scholar and this year has been chosen a senior superlative. Tim is also a member of the basketball and track teams.

Selected to serve as a class marshal in 1979, Wesley Seifert ranks academically among the highest in his class. He is a Beta Club member, a Wofford Scholar nominee and a senior superlative. Wesley has also served as co-captain of the football team as well as being a member of the tennis team and the Block L Club.

After participating on both the basketball and track teams, Danny Jackson has become an active member of the Block L Club. In 1979 he was named all-conference in track. A member of the annual staff in both his junior and senior years, Danny has served as co-editor and photographer for the 1980 Cardinal staff.

Recognized primarily because of her outstanding academic achievement, Judy Green Hefner is a member of the Beta Club and the FBLA. In 1979 she was named a Furman Scholar and a class marshal. She has been a vital member of the gymnastics team and has earned state honors in her sport as well as recognition by the Block L Club.

In addition to serving as vice president of the senior class, Ann Walker was elected Most Athletic by her classmates. She is co-captain of the basketball team and a member of the Block L Club. In 1979 Ann was invited to participate in the All-Star basketball camp.

As a member of the Beta Club and an usher for the Class of 1979, Jenny Rollins has maintained a high academic average throughout her high school years. She is a member of the tennis team and the Block L Club. She has been a Varsity football Cheerleader and serves as historian for the FBLA. After working on the annual staff in 1979, Jenny was named editor of the 1980 Cardinal.

Individual Achievements Acknowledged

In 1980 several seniors earned recognition for both outstanding academic achievement and leadership. Four members of the graduating class maintained averages above ninety during their high school years. Several were nominated for scholarships on the basis of SAT or PSAT scores. One senior attended the South Carolina Governor's School, and two were selected to attend the Palmetto Girls State and the Rotary Leadership Camp.

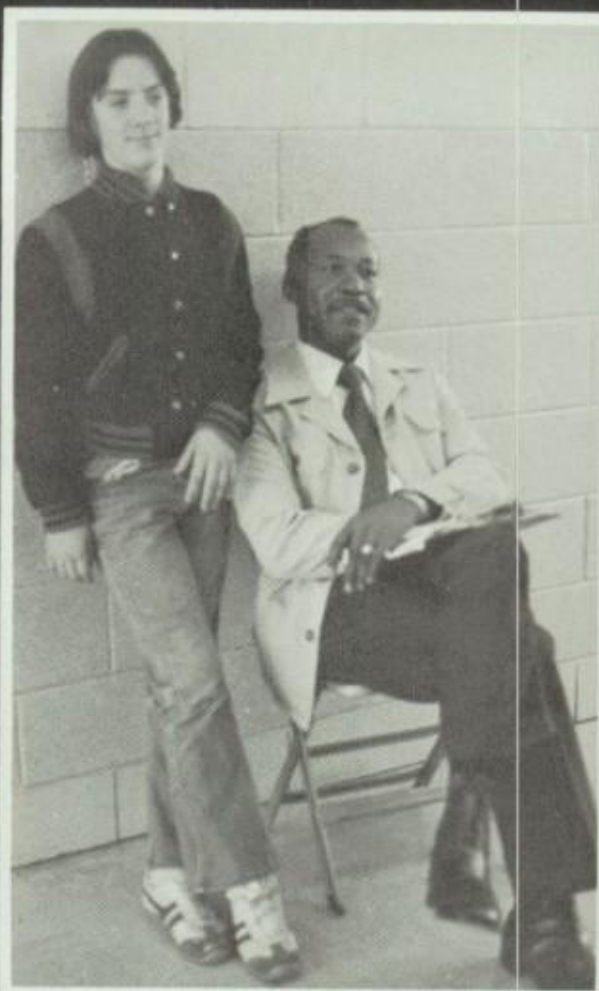

1980 Honor Graduates: Tod Waldrop, Tim Thompson, Judy Hefner, Wesley Seifert.

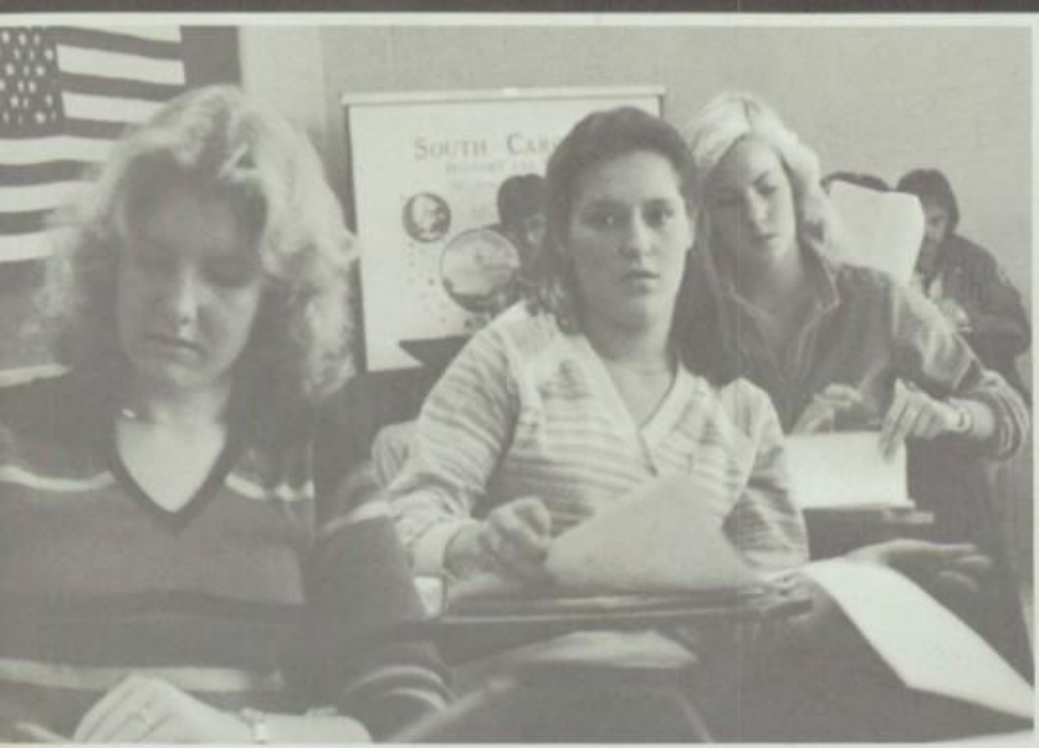

Wofford Scholar Nominees: Wesley Seifert, Tim Thompson.

Furman Scholar Nominees: Tim Thompson, Judy Hefner, Tod Waldrop.

Rotary Leadership Camp: Tim Thompson.
Palmetto Girls State: Cathy Atkins.

Governor's School: Tod Waldrop.

Spinning Off With Cardinal CLASSES

Seniors Spin Off For The Best Year Yet

Returning to the halls of LHS in August was a memorable occasion for members of the senior class. Most realized they were registering in high school for the last time, but the excitement of finally becoming seniors erased any sad moments they felt in the fall. Thoughts of ball games, dances, class projects and a senior trip helped the class settle down with preparations for their best school year ever in 1980.

Powderpuff Champs Keep Coveted Title

After watching the varsity football team pile victory onto victory, the senior girls decided to demonstrate their own prowess on the gridiron. They eagerly accepted the challenge of the junior girls, and began practicing for the test of strength. Under the watchful eye of varsity players who served as coaches, the girls plotted strategies and mastered plays. The game proved to be an exciting match, for both teams were fired up. The senior team, however, proved to be too tough for the juniors as the Class of '80 posted a 28-12 victory in the competition.

Vote Ends Cap And Gown Debate

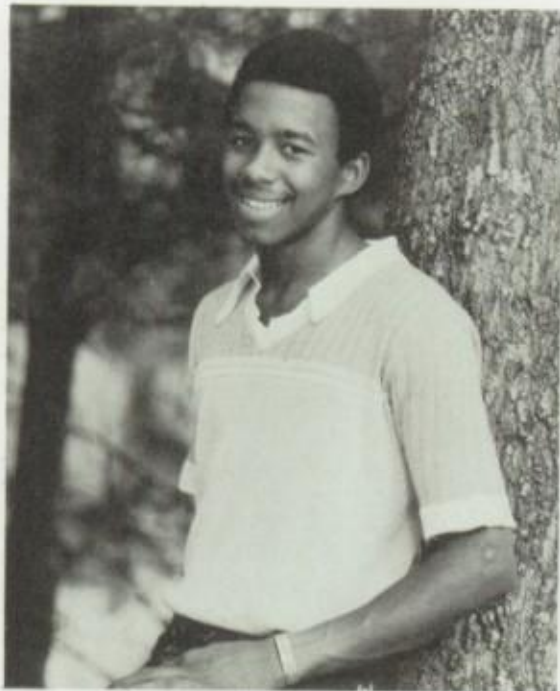

After two days of heated discussion about the color of their graduation caps and gowns, the senior class finally voted to have both the girls and boys wear black gowns. The class choice broke a tradition of the past few years when caps and gowns have been basically red and white. Tassels for the caps, it was decided, would be red, black and white. According to the administration, there has never been a regulation cap and gown for LHS graduations; therefore, the seniors were allowed to make their own decision.

Early Dismissals Create Seniorless Sixth Period

Among the most useful privileges seniors enjoyed, the right to early dismissal became one of the most noticeable at school. After fourth and fifth periods each day, seniors made a mass exodus from the campus. Those leaving usually headed for much-needed jobs in the community; however, they left behind a largely seniorless sixth period at LHS.

Seniors Plan Spring Trip To Washington

This year, senior class officers and sponsors began planning for a trip to Washington before school started. After securing the approval of the Board of Trustees, the class proceeded with its plans to visit the Smithsonian Institute, the Capitol, the White House, and other federal buildings. This trip to Washington was the first for Landrum seniors since the 1960's when every graduating class visited the nation's capital.

Activities Crowd Junior Schedules

As juniors, the Class of 1981 had many activities on its schedule when the year began. One early project, the homecoming dance, occupied hours in September. As soon as that project was concluded, the class plunged into preparations for the powderpuff game. No activity, however, required more of the class energies than plans for the prom. Every detail called for hours of work to assure the success all juniors had dreamed of for years.

Junior Scholars Feel Test Pressures

No class on campus felt more pressures than the junior class. In addition to all the demands of their heavy course loads and their active social lives, juniors faced the prospect of taking the PSAT and the SAT for the first time. Although all knew they could take the tests again, everyone prepared and hoped their early scores would be good enough to guarantee admission to college.

Spirited Sophomores Make Head Way

As usual, sophomores found it necessary to work to establish their class identity in LHS school life. Eager to participate, sophomores pushed to find their places on varsity teams and in club activities. They worked to establish good study habits and respectable averages. In the end they learned the value of patience and perseverance as they prepared themselves to become upperclassmen.

Before the year had advanced very far, sophomore class officers were at work examining ideas for a profitable class project. Recognizing that they would be paying for the 1981 Junior-Senior, class members knew they needed to increase their treasury. After several class meetings, the sophomores decided to sponsor a Valentine Disco Dance in the school gym. Working together not only helped the class overcome the challenges of the project but also provided hours of fun and a chance to build friendships.

Freshmen Accept Challenges

As freshmen, members of the Class of '83 found themselves facing more demanding academic requirements. Seventh and eighth grade courses seemed simple in comparison with Mr. Morgan's proofs in geometry of Mrs. Cariker's relative pronouns.

At times it seemed impossible to complete all the assignments. However, patience and willingness to put in hours of study usually brought reward. A good test score or report card became visible evidence of success.

Class Of '83 Seizes Opportunities

Besides working hard, this year's freshmen enjoyed times with friends more than ever. At dances they kept up with all the new steps. They were always in the crowd cheering our teams on to victory.

Special times together accentuated the unity of the class. Freshmen stayed together. They were a close-knit group around school and even around town. Together the class felt pride when they won the spirit stick at a pep rally. By 1980 the Class of '83 was well on its way to establishing its own identity.

Ninth Graders Work For Excellence

By the end of the year, ninth graders felt a sense of satisfaction with their achievements. Good grades made most proud of their success in the classroom, and even limited participation in varsity sports and club activities made the freshmen hungry for more important roles in the coming year.

As they gained confidence, freshmen felt little fear. They were ready for greater responsibilities. Challenges seemed like nothing more than invitations to work harder to insure excellence. The Class of 1983 was eager to begin establishing its identity as one of the most outstanding classes in LHS history.

Eighth Graders Develop Confidence

Keen anticipation accompanied eighth graders back to LHS in August. The experience of their seventh grade year had taught the class what to expect at registration and during the first hectic weeks of school. Eighth graders believed they were leaders of the junior high. Their assurance inspired them to proceed confidently with the election of class officers and with the organization of clubs.

Most class members found it easy to laugh as they looked back on their first year at LHS. True to tradition, they wasted no time in harrasing the new seventh grade class. After only one year at LHS, eighth graders thought of themselves as an integral part of the LHS population.

Goals Direct Eighth Grade Energies

Discovering opportunities in every aspect of life at LHS was an exciting experience for eighth graders. Optimistic, open, and cheerful, the class began setting goals, hoping to break records in every endeavor.

Although extra curricular activities were more appealing, eighth graders learned to discipline themselves to routine academic requirements. Before long the challenges of the classroom became exciting channels of discussion. With typical Cardinal spirit, eighth graders tackled the problems of math, science, English, South Carolina history, and struggled to make 1980 a great beginning of a new decade.

Seventh Graders Face Uncertainties

As seventh graders arrived at LHS in August, they felt all the uncertainties so common with members of the newest class on campus. Fear, even panic seized the young hearts fresh from O.P. Earle. Frustrations stemmed from locker combinations to the break between classes. Confusion often led to chaos and total bewilderment at the pace of life in this new environment. Signs of maturity were slow to develop, but by the year's end, even upperclassmen admitted the Class of '85 had come a long way.

Class Of '85 Settles Into LHS Routines

Settling into a routine was not easy for seventh graders who knew so little about life at LHS. Few knew what to expect from teachers, and many found the work much more demanding than elementary school work.

Earning high grades was a noteworthy accomplishment, especially since teachers seemed to conspire and assign all tests and papers due on the same day. Learning to cope with all the demands of classes, clubs, sports and other activities did much to strengthen the character of the Class of 1985.

FACULTY

Administrators Establish High Standards

Every aspect of LHS life knew the firm influence of our school administrators. Throughout the year, Mr. Holden and Mr. Summers handled the routine problems and worked to improve the daily lives of all LHS students. Together with the faculty, the administrators worked to improve the level of academic achievement and to insure the success of all school functions. Setting high standards, the administration refused to settle for second best.

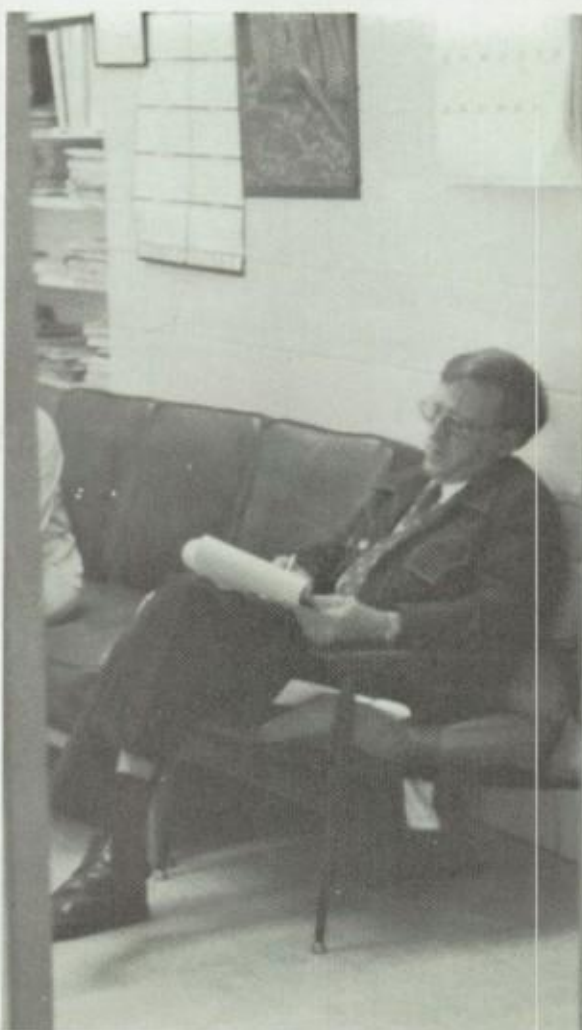

In the hall Mr. Holden and Mr. Summers check notes on the exam schedule.

Administrators: Mr. Edgar Holden, principal; Mr. Johnnie Summers, assistant principal.

Working in his office, Mr. Holden prepares an announcement before the 8:10 bell.

Spartanburg County School Board Member: T.A. Hyder.

District Provides Leadership

Working from the central office, the district administrators cooperated with the Board of Trustees to provide guidance as well as to establish and maintain an ideal learning environment for all students and teachers in District One. These administrators counted themselves successful as they measured the progress and noted the recognition their student population earned.

Mr. H.E. Hipp, Superintendent, District One Schools; Mr. Jimmy Littlefield, Administrative Assistant.

Board of Trustees: Seated, John Austin, Clifford Walden, Thomas H. Morrow, Frank Byrd, Jr. Standing, Marion Gramling, Arthur Wingo, chairman; Albert Jackson, J. Randy Craig.

Language, Resource Stress Communication

Seeking to improve our communication skills, our English, reading and resource teachers believed that good reading habits and practice in writing were steps in the direction of achieving their goals.

Mrs. Pack helped us overcome the trials of learning a foreign language. She excited our interest in another culture as we planned French dinners or talked about a summer visit to France.

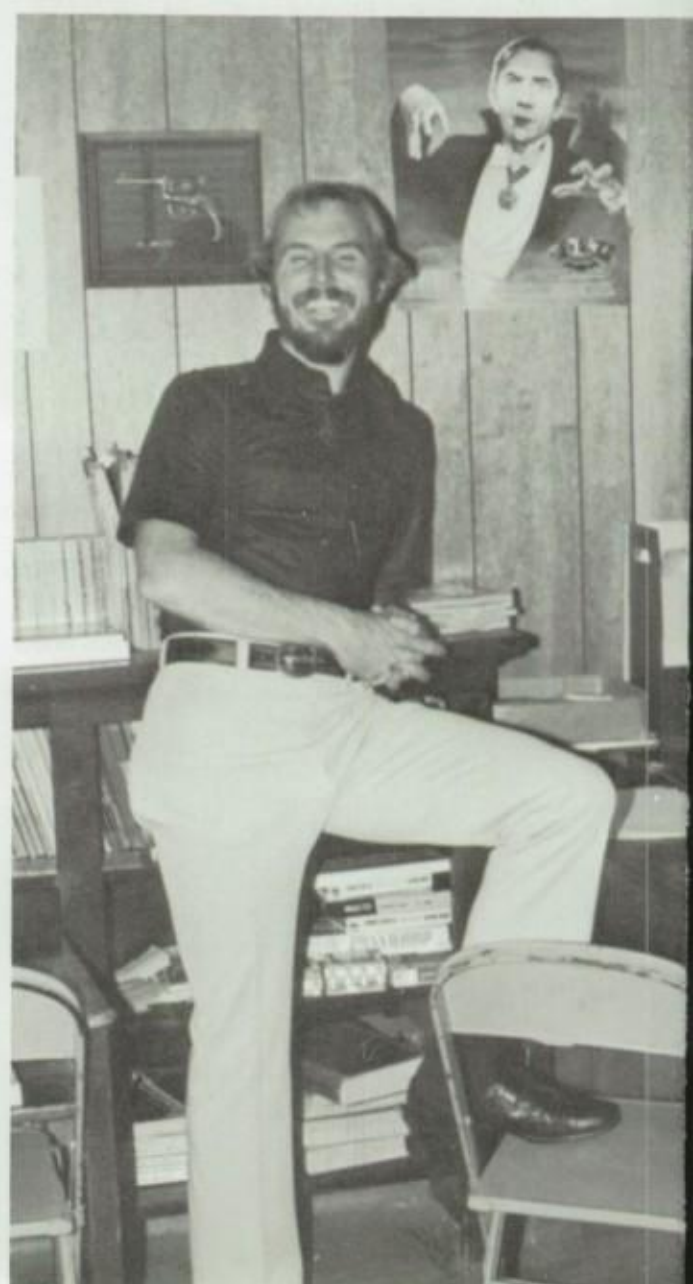

Reading: Linda Prince, Rick Cooper.

English: Bonnie Rogers, Catherine Carriker, Judy Folk, Mary Chastain.

French: Pat Pack.

Resource: Steve Schulte.

Resource: Joan Swenson.

Music, Art Develop Talent

Exposing us to the fine arts, Mrs. Krause taught basic art skills. Our music department continued to improve this year. The chorus entertained us at a special Christmas program, and the band continued to earn state honors. Eight new trophies made the band room gleam. In the fall the band sponsored one of the earliest tournaments in the state honoring Harrison Elliot, a former band director in our school district.

Music: Kerry Ward, Gene Vanderford.

In the chorus room, Miss Ward plays for students to practice.

After class, Mrs. Krause helps her aide, Zane Rish, with an etching project.

Before the Christmas parade, Mr. Vanderford rehearses the senior band.

Art: Connie Krause.

Social Science Views Society

Taking us all the way from an insight into our own personalities to an understanding of America's foreign policy, our social studies teachers faced a complex task. They attempted to reveal our heritage as the basis for understanding America's role in the world today.

In a year filled with shocking events, we struggled to understand America's position in an international community. Slowly we came to realize the importance of the special assignments our social studies teachers confronted us with.

During psychology, Jan Humphries, Sammy Fagan, Tammy Cantrell and Lisa Hodge prepare for a group discussion.

Before a test, Mr. Meminger gives Anna Kay Jackson some last minute advice.

After class, Mr. McDowell and Denise Ramsey review her homework.

History: Jim Ramsey, Ron Hicks, Danny McDowell, Charles Adams.

Math Enhances Logical Thought

As we learned that math is not only numbers and theories but a process we use to think logically every day, we came to appreciate this subject. Applying mathematical thought gave us confidence in ourselves and insight into the complex, mathematical, technical and scientific systems which control many activities of our daily lives.

After class, Mr. Collins checks to be sure Ketcha Nhung's grade is correct.

In her usual location, Mrs. Walker works a problem on the overhead projector.

Math: Seated: Bonnie Rogers, George Morgan, Martha Walker. Standing: Waymon Collins, Marvin Beach.

Absorbed with senior math, Billy Farrar spends a free period in Mr. Morgan's room solving problems.

Science Seeks Solutions

Each day our science teachers worked to introduce us to the principles that control our physical world. Our scientific discussions ranged from theoretical views of the origin of life to the scientific reasoning behind pollution control devices for our cars. Slowly we came to realize that a fundamental knowledge of science is necessary if we are to keep up with the rapid changes in modern life.

Science: Waymon Collins, Bonnie Rogers, Ron Hicks, Steve Coley, Marvin Beach, Hugh Culbreth.

Before basketball practice, Carleen Wooley asks Mrs. Rogers to look over her physics assignment.

Using a small generator, Mr. Culbreth and Mark Woolwine illustrate the generation of electric power.

Members of the physics class listen as Tim Thompson explains a principle of electronics.

Vocational Department Expands

This year the vocational department at LHS expanded from its previous range of agriculture and home economics courses to include a new program in life skills taught by Mrs. Dee Bunn. Like our other vocational offerings, the new life-skills course helped us focus on the future as we examined job opportunities, prepared for interviews, wrote resumes and completed sample application forms. With the addition of life skills, the vocational department was equipped to prepare us for a more rewarding life at home, on the farm or in the business community.

Agriculture: Hubert Waldrop.

Life skills students work with Mrs. Bunn to define their career goals.

After class, Carleen Wooley vacuumes the shop for Mr. Waldrop.

Life Skills: Dee Bunn.

Home Economics: Helen Horne.

Replacing an absent student, Mrs. Coley joins Jim Plumley at the foosball table.

Combining groups in the gym, Mrs. Coley and Mr. Moon teach a first aid class.

P.E. Encourages Participation

At LHS in 1980, the philosophy of providing equal opportunity for physical as well as mental growth continued to rank high. Enjoying our excellent physical education facilities, we all could participate in many sports including basketball, volleyball, foosball, softball and handball. Our teachers emphasized sportsmanship as well as improved motor ability. In their courses they taught us how to live healthful lives by keeping physically fit.

In the CPR class, Mr. Moon observes as Wendy Dill demonstrates how to see if "Resuscitator Annie" is breathing.

Business Calls For Accuracy

As always speed, efficiency and accuracy were the keys to success in our business department. Typing sixty words a minute and taking shorthand rapidly were musts for some of us who were interested in the business world. Mrs. Pace and Mrs. Topham taught courses ranging from accounting to shorthand and typing. They exposed us to practical skills which we would need whether we planned for immediate employment or for further study in college or technical school.

Business: Donna Pace.

Business: Mary Topham.

Typing students Kelly Smith and Teresa Simmons complete timed-writing drills.

During class, Mrs. Pace explains how to set margins for Keith Turner and Melissa Fowler.

Library, Guidance Open Doors

A ready source of reference herself, Mrs. Searcy, our librarian was always ready to help us find the materials we needed to complete assignments. In the guidance office Mrs. Littlefield kept up with our permanent records, our grades, our career decisions and countless applications. She helped us bridge the gap between adolescent dependence and adult independence.

In the guidance office Mrs. Littlefield tends to Renee Kale's minor injury.

Librarian: Linda Searcy.

Guidance: Marjorie Littlefield.

Staff Handles Daily Affairs

Although they worked behind the scenes, the non-teaching staff members at LHS continued to provide vital services for all students and faculty. They handled the routine and not-so-routine business of the school in the front offices, in the study hall, on the campus and in the lunchroom.

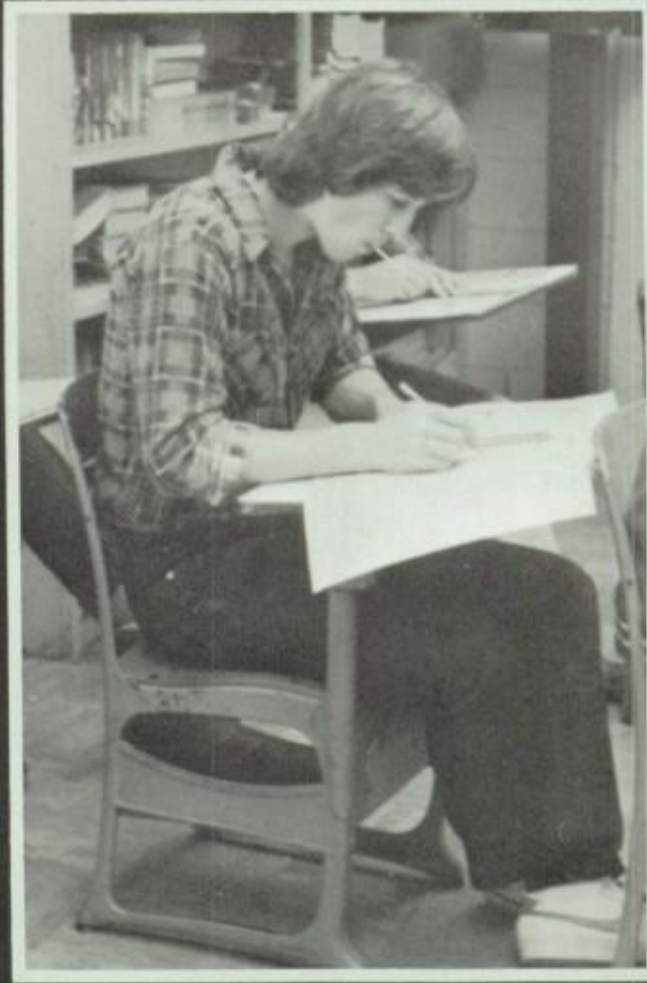

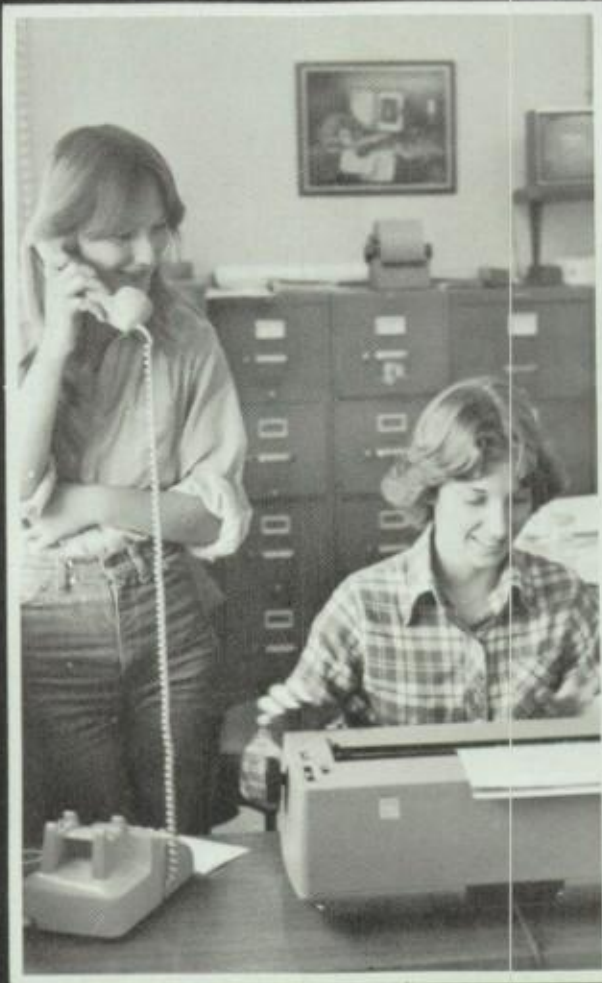

Study Hall: Carolyn Staggs.

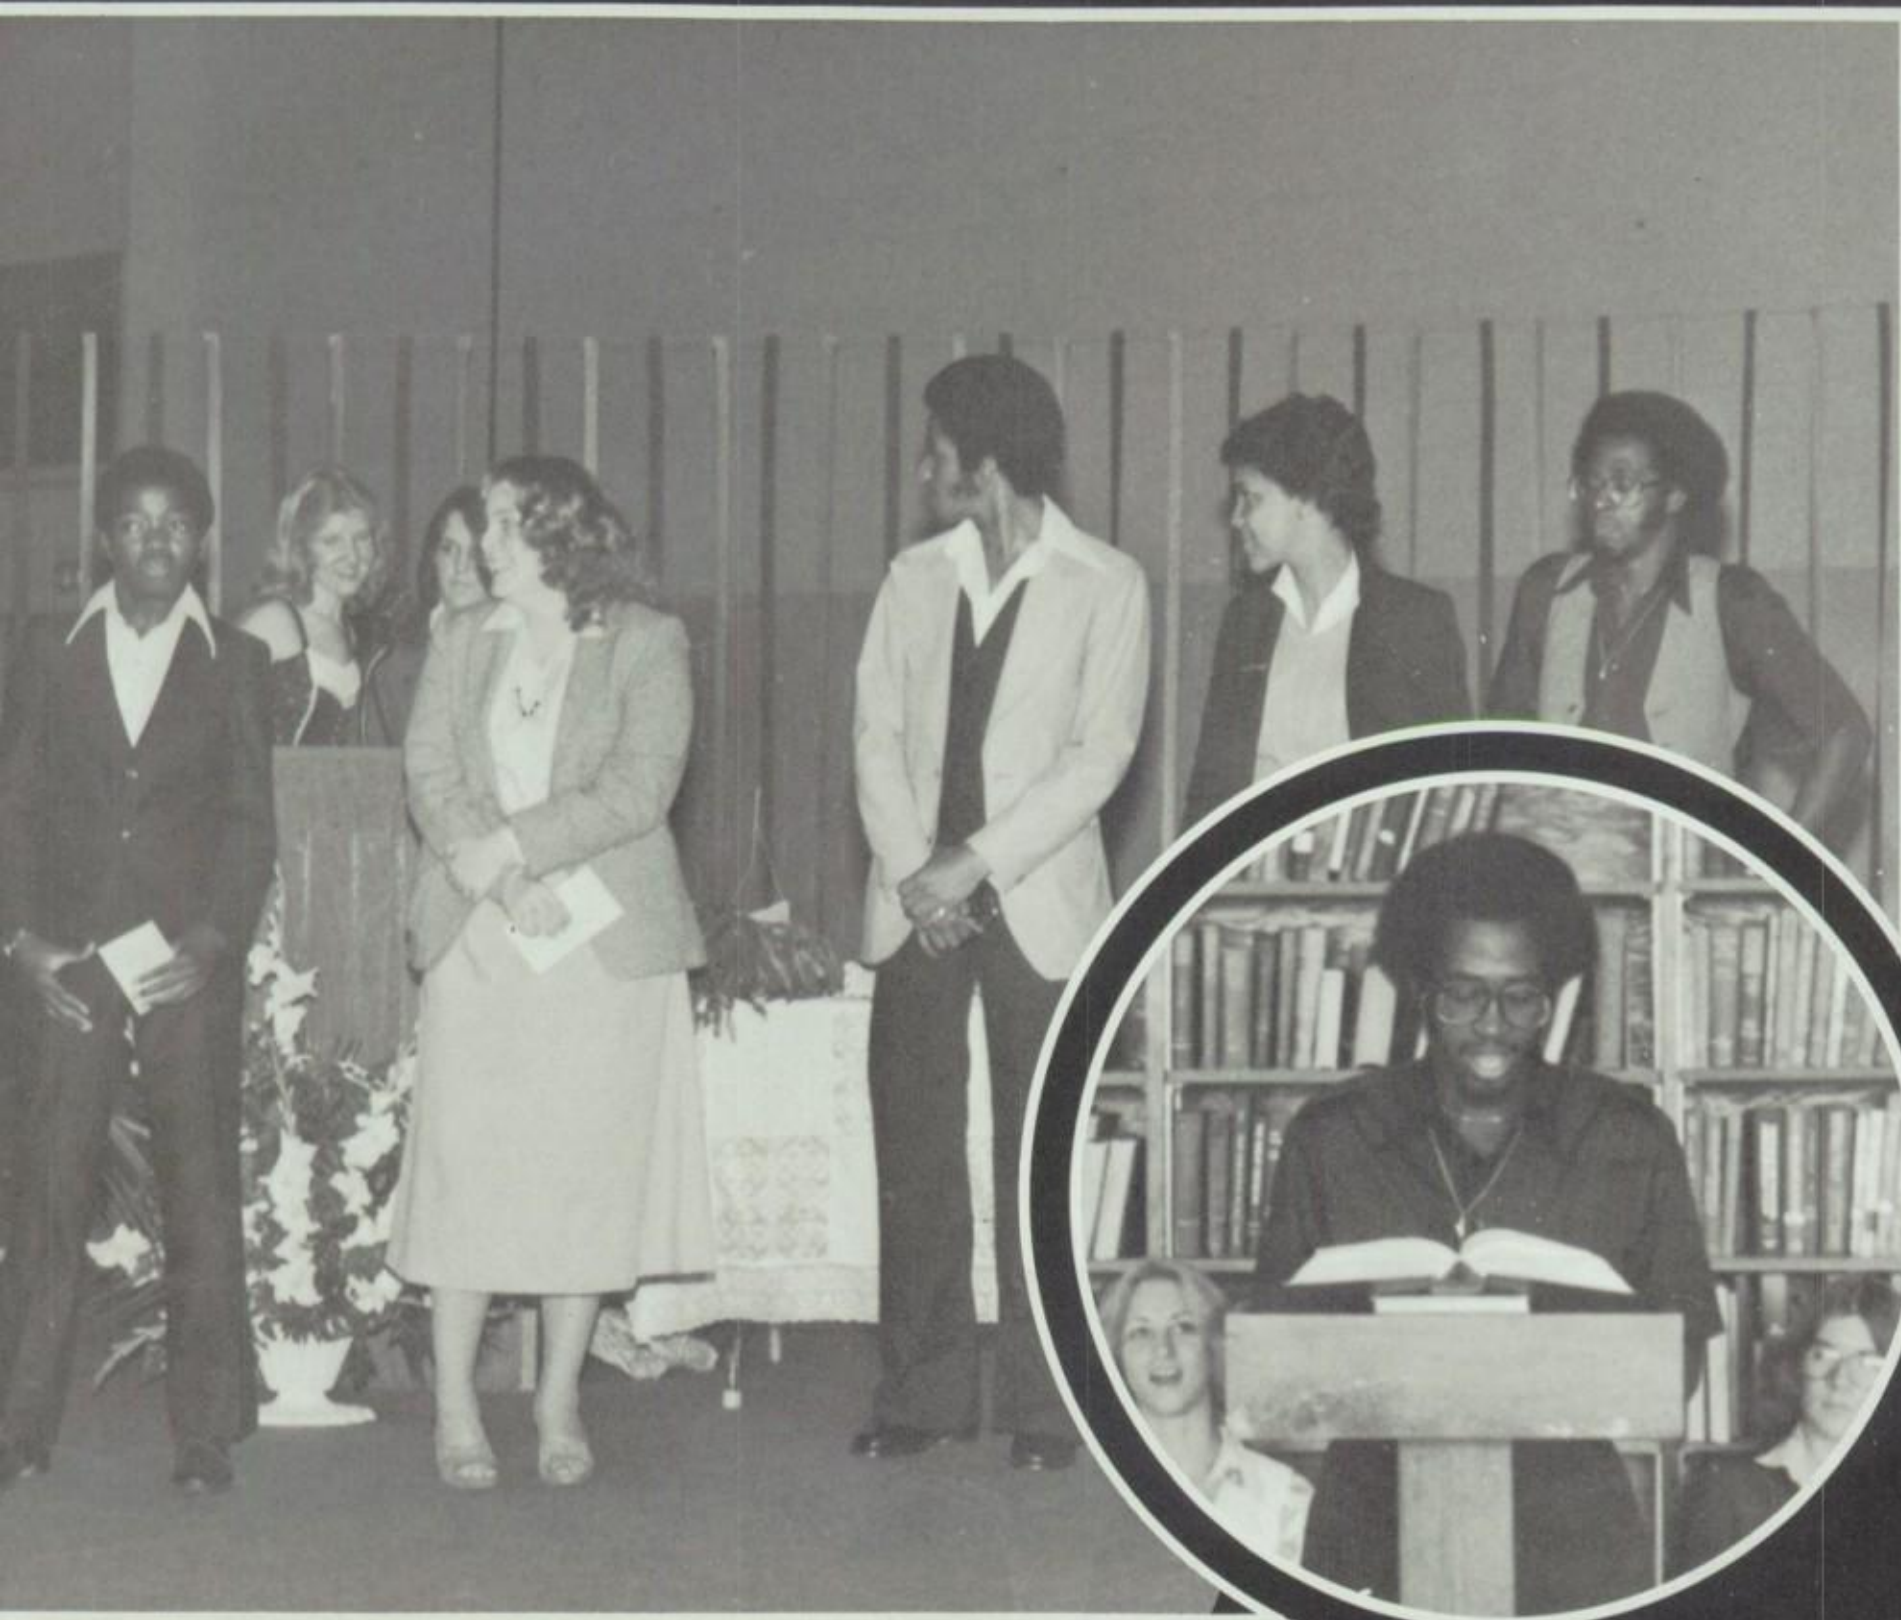

Custodians: Dan Verse Fuller, Terry Davis.

Secretaries: Janice Ayers, Allie Thompson.

Lunchroom Staff: Rachel Wingo, Nellie Hutchins, Martha Waldrop, Wilma Winkler, Mary Settle.

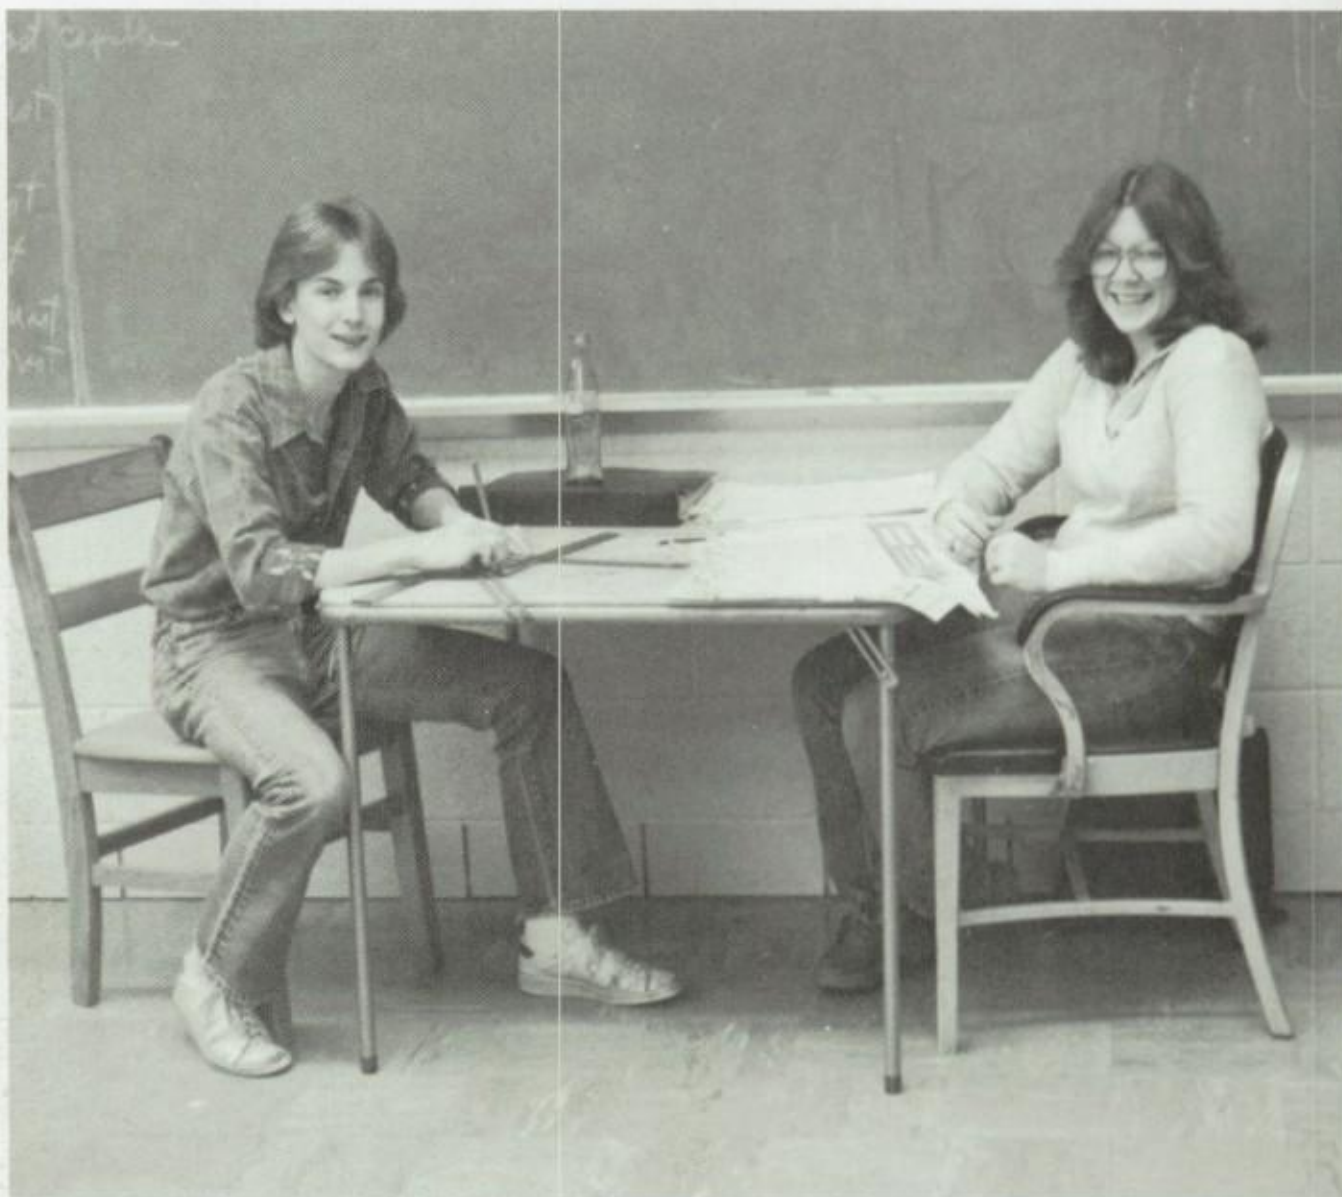

Spinning Off With Cardinal CLUBS

Annual Staff Spins Off 1980 Record

Returning to school in August after winning a trophy at their summer workshop, members of the Cardinal staff prepared to record the 1980 school year with more than the usual confidence. New staff members soon adjusted to the unfamiliar language, the confusion, and the rush to meet deadlines. Before the year was over, staffers once again had a unique relationship among themselves and with Mrs. Carriker. They looked forward to the day in May when the 1980 Cardinal arrived.

Editors Jenny Rollins and Danny Jackson plan the color deadline.

Borrowing Mrs. Carriker's desk, Cathy Atkins and Stacey Ayers redraw the faculty section.

Billy Farrar, Tod Waldrop, Miranda Miller and Wayne Abernathy complete sports layouts.

Seated: Melissa Ramsey, Wayne Abernathy, Tod Waldrop, Stacey Ayers, Miranda Miller, Billy Farrar, Scott Cochran, Deanna Duncan. Standing: Danny Jackson, Cathy Atkins, Julie Collins, Mickie Doar, Lucy Little, Jody Brown, Pam Rollins, Jan Humphries, Teresa Wessinger, Sheri Moon, Lisa Hodge, Tammy Cantrell, Jenny Rollins.

Staff photographers: Julie Collins, Scott Cochran, Lucy Little.

Struggling to meet the November deadline, staffers confer with editor Jenny Rollins.

Working in Mrs. Pace's room, Tammy Cantrell and Pam Rollins type captions.

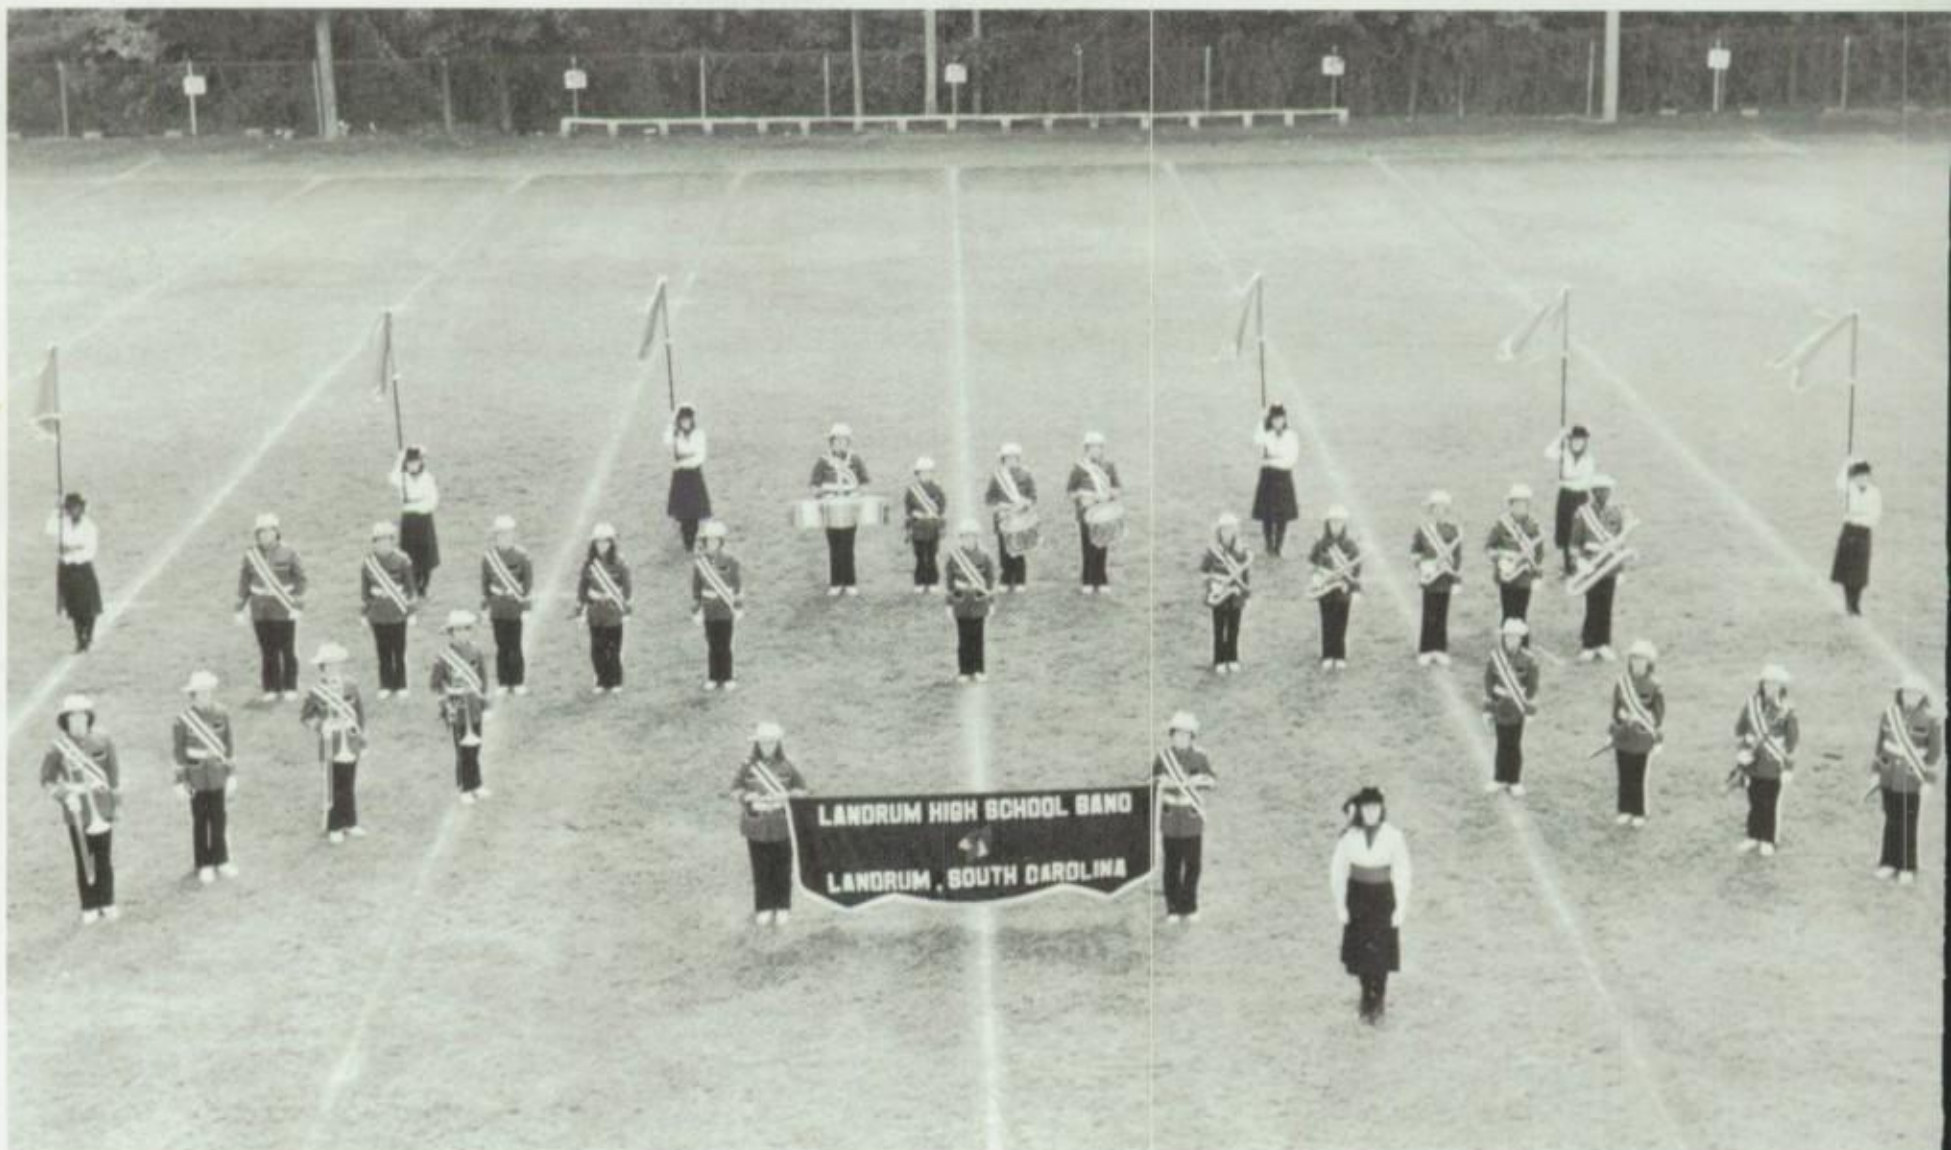

Making last-minute changes, Teresa Wessinger and Lisa Hodge complete the club section.

Warming-up, the percussion section practices before sixth period.

Before a pep rally, Terri Page joins the flag corps in a routine.

Distinctive Regiment Marches On

Continuing its winning tradition, the Cardinal band marched to wins in four state contests and earned eight new trophies. In the fall the band hosted its own successful band tournament.

As the year progressed, four bands evolved from the one band: a marching band, a concert band, a stage band and a pep band. Each of these groups added to the range of the music the band performed. During spring holidays in March, the band performed in Washington, D.C. at the White House and the Jefferson Memorial.

Band Council and Officers. Seated: Mickie Wofford, Barbara Warren, Annette Jackson, Rhonda McClure. Standing: Kevin Wessinger, Teresa Wessinger, Greg Stephens, Anthony Greene, Sherry Pruitt, Teresa Flynn, Stephen Walden.

Flag Corps: Robin Bradshaw, Annette Jackson, Rita Hamrick, Deanna Duncan, Candy Warren, Terri Page.

Leading the band in an assembly, Drum Major Barbara Warren stands at attention.

Before the parade season, the trombone section practices a marching selection.

Practicing with the band, the flag corps prepares for the Palmetto State Tournament.

Prior to the Chapman game, the band adds to the enthusiasm of the pep rally.

LHS Chorus Keeps The Beat

Composed of eighteen talented girls who enjoyed singing, the LHS chorus spent the year practicing for performances at special assembly programs and at community functions. Besides performing, the group enjoyed several parties during the year and even a shopping trip to the mall.

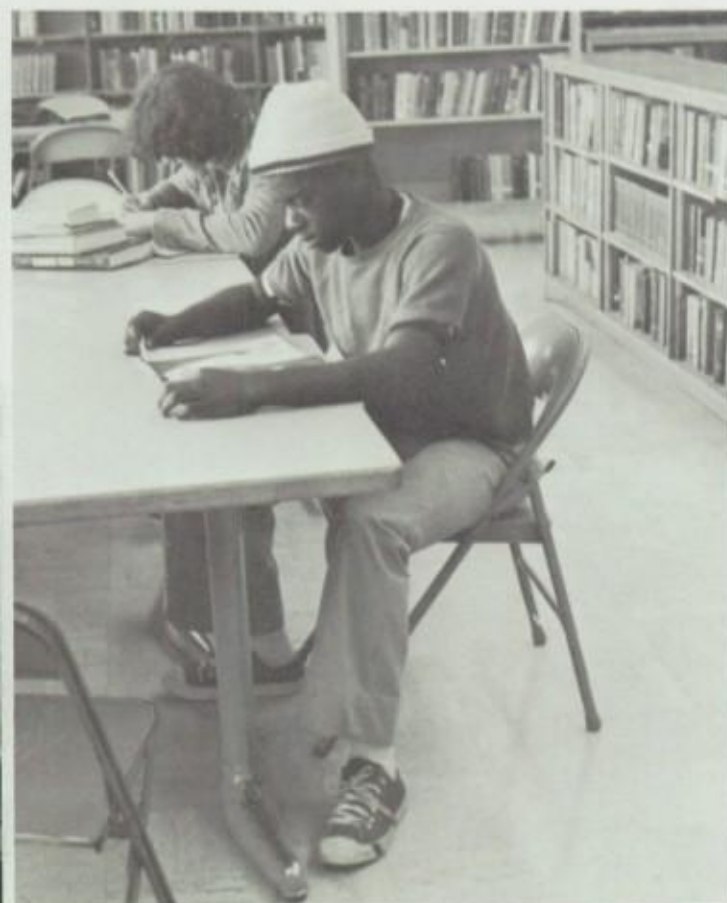

Seated: Carol Ayers, Charlene Dill, Dawn Schliske, Martha Atkins, Sandra Shields, Joann Clayton, Melissa Fowler, Celeste Coggins, Mandy Tucker, Miss Ward. Standing: Roberta Thompson, Julie Staggs, Sharon Evans, Sheila Lewis, Shirley Kilpatrick, Christel Rhymer, Tonya Metcalf, Teresa Heatherly, Marlene Suddeth.

As class begins, Miss Ward leads the group in warm-up exercises.

Alto section members rehearse their parts for a concert number.

Singing out, Marlene Suddeth and Joann Clayton practice for the Christmas program.

Library Club Serves Faculty And Students

Besides working to encourage reading interest at LHS, members of the library club assisted Mrs. Searcy and the entire faculty in gathering information and providing special materials for classroom use. Library assistants not only kept the library running smoothly, they also kept up with the audio-visual equipment used all over the school and became one of the most valuable Cardinal service organizations.

Louise Thompson, Marlene Suddeth, Janet Langford, Rhonda Price, Sheri Moon, Robin Lee, Mark Boothe, Teresa Wesinger, Mrs. Searcy.

Completing a science report, eighth grade girls work in the library.

Learning research skills, Jerry Leonard and Richard Page look for materials.

Waiting for basketball practice, Robert Edwards reads in the library.

Council Helps Needy Families At Christmas

Beginning with the District One Teachers' In-Service Day in August, members of the Student Council spent a busy year hosting school functions and working to coordinate student activities. The Council arranged and supervised all student assemblies including the sports programs, the Christmas program and Class Day exercises. At Christmas the council sponsored the faculty Christmas party and raised enough money to help three needy families.

After homeroom, council officers help Mickie Doar check money collected for the needy-family fund.

After casting her ballot, Jackie Twitty leaves the voting booth.

During assembly, candidates for council offices listen to campaign speeches.

President Billy Farrar makes a point as he leads a discussion about council projects.

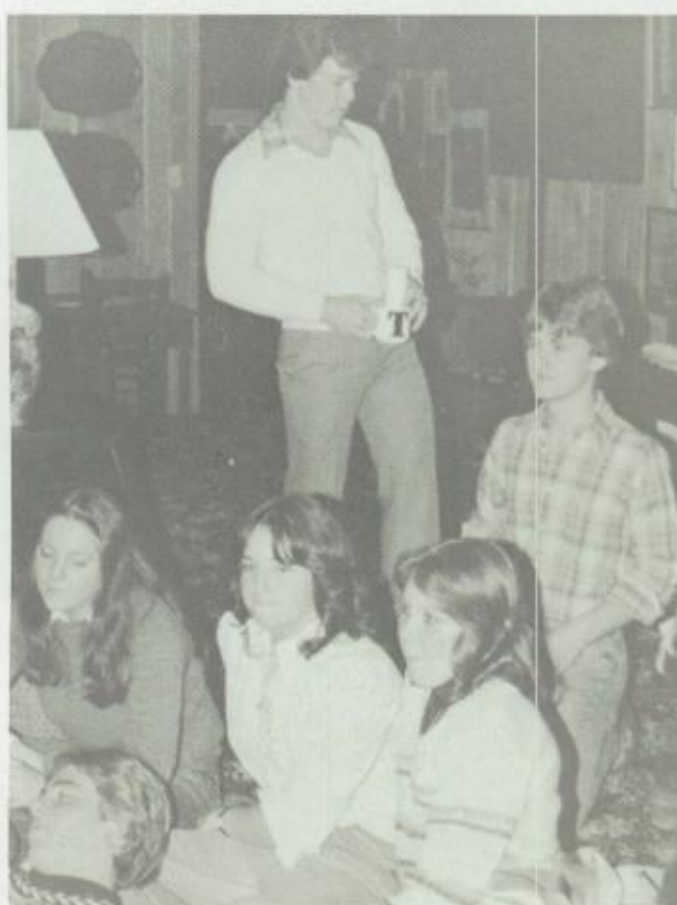

Beta Club Taps Eleven New Members

In addition to attending the state convention in Columbia, members of the Beta Club worked on several projects during the year. The group sold refreshments at the Miss Cardinal pageant and sponsored the Teacher-Appreciation Day activities in the spring. At Christmas, sponsor Mrs. Folk invited club members and annual staffers to a party at her home in Inman.

Before the Beta Club Christmas party, Mrs. Carriker and Mrs. Folk play a Christmas carol with Stacey Ayers.

Cathy Atkins, Jeff Bradey, Wesley Seifert, Joel Turner, Lucy Little, Judy Hefner, Jody Brown, Lynn Stewart, Jenny Rollins, Julie Collins, Pam Huntsinger, Rhonda Sprouse, Tod Waldrop, Tim Thompson.

At the Christmas party, Beta Club members and annual staffers watch as friends exchange gifts.

FBLA Compiles First Student Directory

This year the Future Business Leaders of America at LHS inducted twenty new members into their organization in November. The thirty-eight member group remained one of the most active on campus. Club officers attended an officers' workshop in Greenville. The club sent representatives to the regional conference in Greenville and to the State Leadership Conference in Myrtle Beach. Throughout the year the group worked to encourage interest in business activities.

After a meeting, members plan their trip to the regional meeting in Greenville.

After the induction, Rita Hamrick enjoys the reception.

After the assembly program, Mrs. Pace and Mrs. Topham talk with the guest speaker Rev. Lavender.

Block L Recognizes Athletes

Recognizing athletes and cheerleaders who earned letters for participation in the sports program, the Block L Club had over ninety members in 1980. In order to keep their membership growing, club members promoted active involvement in the school sports program. Throughout the year the club sold concessions at ball games in order to purchase letters for members.

At the football banquet Block L member Tony Levister receives an all-conference plaque from Coach Ramsey.

Accepting his letter from Mr. Coley, Danny Jackson experiences a feeling of accomplishment.

Pep Club Boosts Spirit

By far the school's largest organization, the Pep Club functioned to support all LHS athletic teams. Club members worked with the Student Council to plan and produce a short comic Christmas play called "The Waiting Game." Members of the cheerleading squads served as club officers. With the guidance of their sponsor, Mr. Cooper, the organization did much to promote enthusiastic school spirit.

Thinking over the year's activities, Mr. Cooper and Deanna Duncan discuss Pep Club projects.

FHA Sponsors First Mr. FHA Competition

Enjoying one of its most successful years ever, the Future Homemakers sponsored a Mr. FHA contest in the fall. The project proved to be a tremendous money-making event for the club and provided the necessary funds to help the organization carry through with its plans for a scrapbook, a fashion show and a trip to Atlanta.

Waiting for the Mr. FHA contest to begin, contestants listen for their cue.

Winners Tony Levister, Mr. FHA, and Roger Humphries, first runner-up, smile for the audience.

FFA Nurtures Interest In Agriculture

Composed of students who expressed an interest in agriculture or agribusiness, the Future Farmers of America concentrated on developing useful and practical skills. Club members went on several field trips during the year and in February sponsored the annual Miss FFA Sweetheart contest.

Office Aides Support Staff

Working in the offices for Mr. Holden and Mr. Summers, the office aides performed routine tasks which left the secretaries free to handle more complicated business during the school day. As the year progressed, the office assistants became a vital force for the efficient operation of the school's administrative functions.

After lunch, Rhonda McClure types the suspension hall list for Mrs. Thompson.

After school, driver Ricky Miller moves his bus around the bus circle.

Taking pride in his bus, Tim Brown keeps up with his housekeeping.

Bus Drivers Transport Students

Regularly transporting students to and from school, the Bus Drivers worked with Mr. Summers to insure the safety of all student passengers on school vehicles. The twelve regular drivers, who liked to call themselves the "Dirty Dozen," boasted a nearly perfect driving record, for in the past three years no accidents have been charged against them. In appreciation for their service, the district office rewarded the drivers with steak dinners in the fall and in the spring.

Spinning Off With Cardinal SPORTS

Football Cheerleaders Spark Team Successes

Returning to school in August, the football cheerleading squads were eager for the start of the coming season. During the summer, the varsity squad attended cheerleading camp at Furman University. In June the varsity sponsored a workshop for the Junior High cheerleaders. By August the Junior High group was also prepared and ready to boost spirit for their team.

Prior to the first pep rally, cheerleaders are introduced to the student body.

In the swing of things, Lisa Settle and Terri Taylor lead a cheer in the gym.

Raising the run-through poster, cheerleaders prepare for the players to arrive.

During halftime, the cheerleaders perform a routine to "I Was Made for Loving You."

Varsity Football Cheerleaders: Jenny Rollins, Lisa Settle, Cathy Atkins, co-captain; Tammy Cantrell, Candi Davis, Terri Taylor, Sonya Maybry, Pam Rollins, captain.

During the Blacksburg game, Junior High Cheerleaders lead the crowd in a chant.

After the game, Scott Turner stops to chat with Dana West.

From the sidelines the cheerleaders encourage the team.

Junior Varsity Cheerleaders: Debbie Stott, Tiffany Pack, Martha Atkins, Amy Easlic, Barrie Lewis, Dana West, Sharon Stott, Mandy Tucker.

Basketball Cheerleaders Rally Running Reds

During the summer, the varsity basketball cheerleaders began training by attending camp at Furman University. In October, the squad raised money for uniforms by holding a bake sale. When the basketball season began, the girls planned pep rallies, made posters, decorated the locker rooms, and bought candy to boost spirit.

The seven junior high cheerleaders also began training during the summer by attending workshops planned by the varsity. Like the varsity squad, the junior high cheerleaders led pep rallies and cheered at games in support of the LHS "Running Reds."

Varsity Cardinals Record Best Season Ever

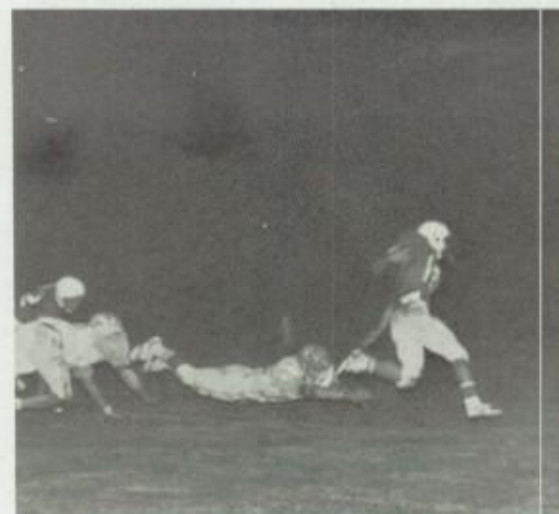

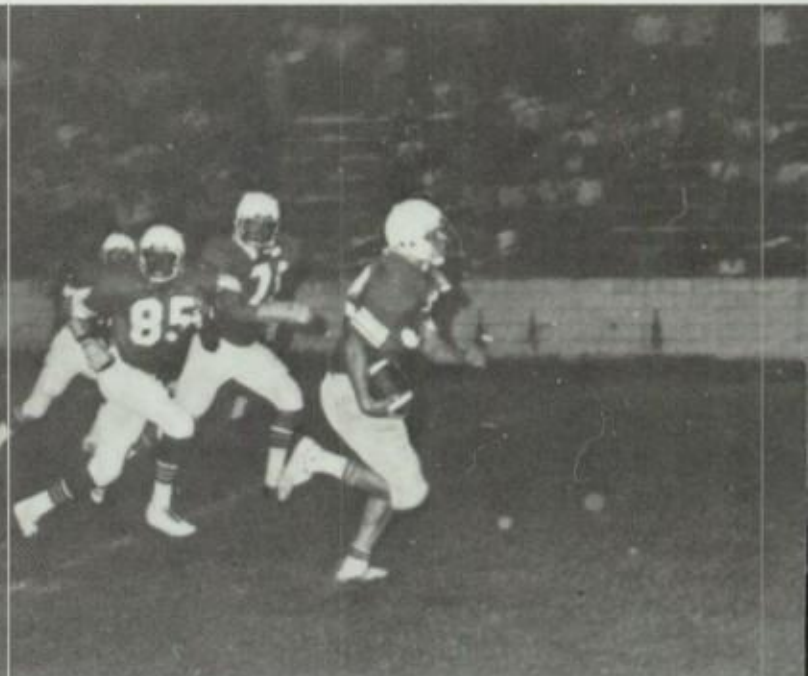

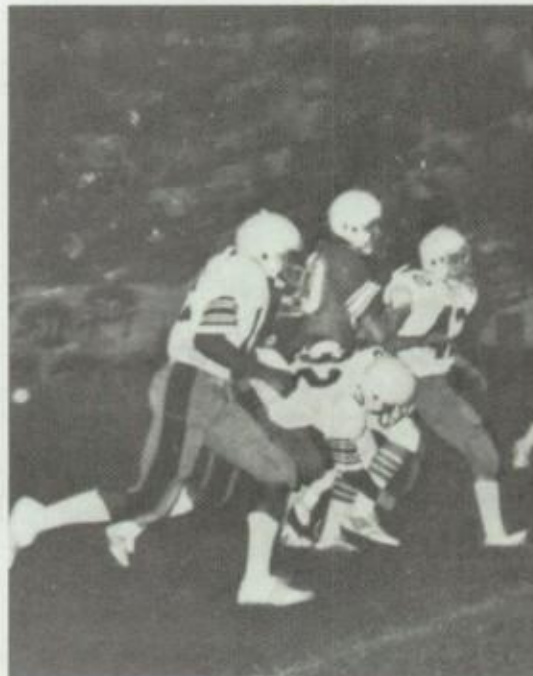

Finishing the season with a 9-1 record, the varsity football team recorded the best regular season record ever for LHS. The team shared the conference title with Dixie and earned a spot in the upper-state playoffs where they faced Whitmire.

As they reviewed the season, the coaches praised the efforts of the entire team. They recalled honors such as the WORD Team of the Week award which the Cardinals won after their victory over Chesnee.

Preventing a Lockhart completion, Billy Farrar makes a good defensive secondary play.

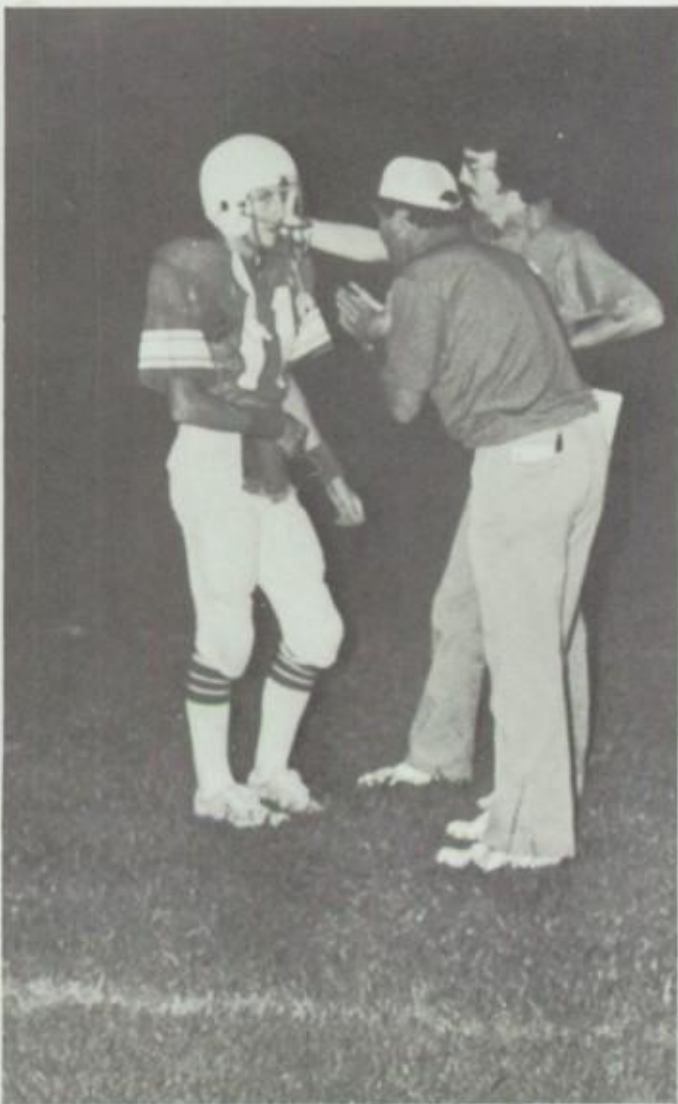

Breaking through the Chesnee defense, Eric McCarty heads toward the goal line.

Eluding a Christ Church defender, Wayne Abernathy adds another six points to the score.

As Ricky Miller crosses the goal line, Tod Waldrop signals the score.

During a break in the action, Jimmy Pruitt receives instructions from the sidelines.

On the end-around play, Marvin McDowell breaks through the Lockhart defense.

Cardinals Share Conference Honors With Dixie

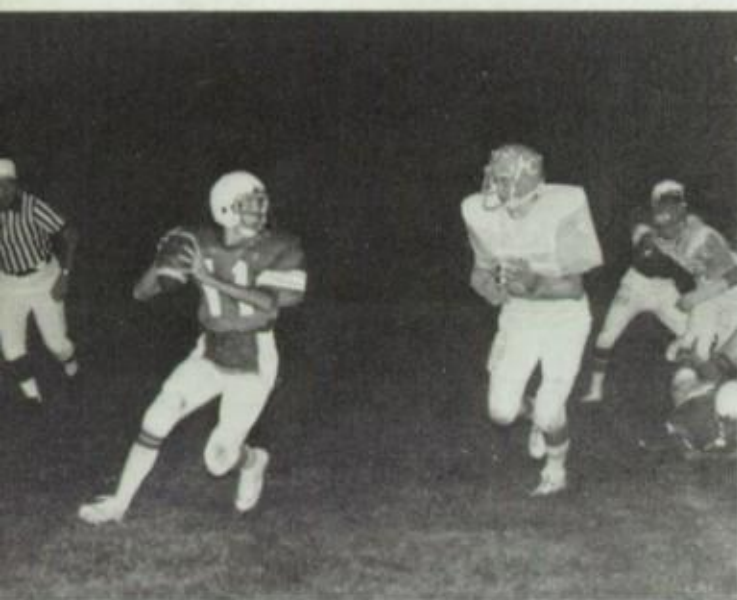

Outstanding defensive play helped the Cardinals put together their winning season. Using multiple defenses, the team was able to hold its opponents to an average of less than nine points a game. The secondary held its opponents to less than thirty-five yards a game passing and yielded only one touchdown pass all season.

Offensively, the Cardinals ran the ball for a power game. The team averaged gaining 279 yards per game and scoring twenty-four points a game. A pleasant surprise during the year was the team's passing attack spearheaded by Jimmy Pruitt's passing to Billy Farrar and Mitch Green. Seniors Eric McCarty and Wayne Abernathy led the team's running attack.

Dropping back to pass, Jimmy Pruitt eludes a Christ Church lineman.

Making a tackle in the backfield, Tony Levister stalls the Lockhart offense.

In the huddle quarterback Jimmy Pruitt calls the next play.

Before the Christ Church game, fullback Eric McCarty leads the Cardinals onto the field.

Adding six to the Cardinal score, Eric McCarty crosses the goal line.

During halftime, defensive coach Jim Ramsey makes some changes in Cardinal strategy.

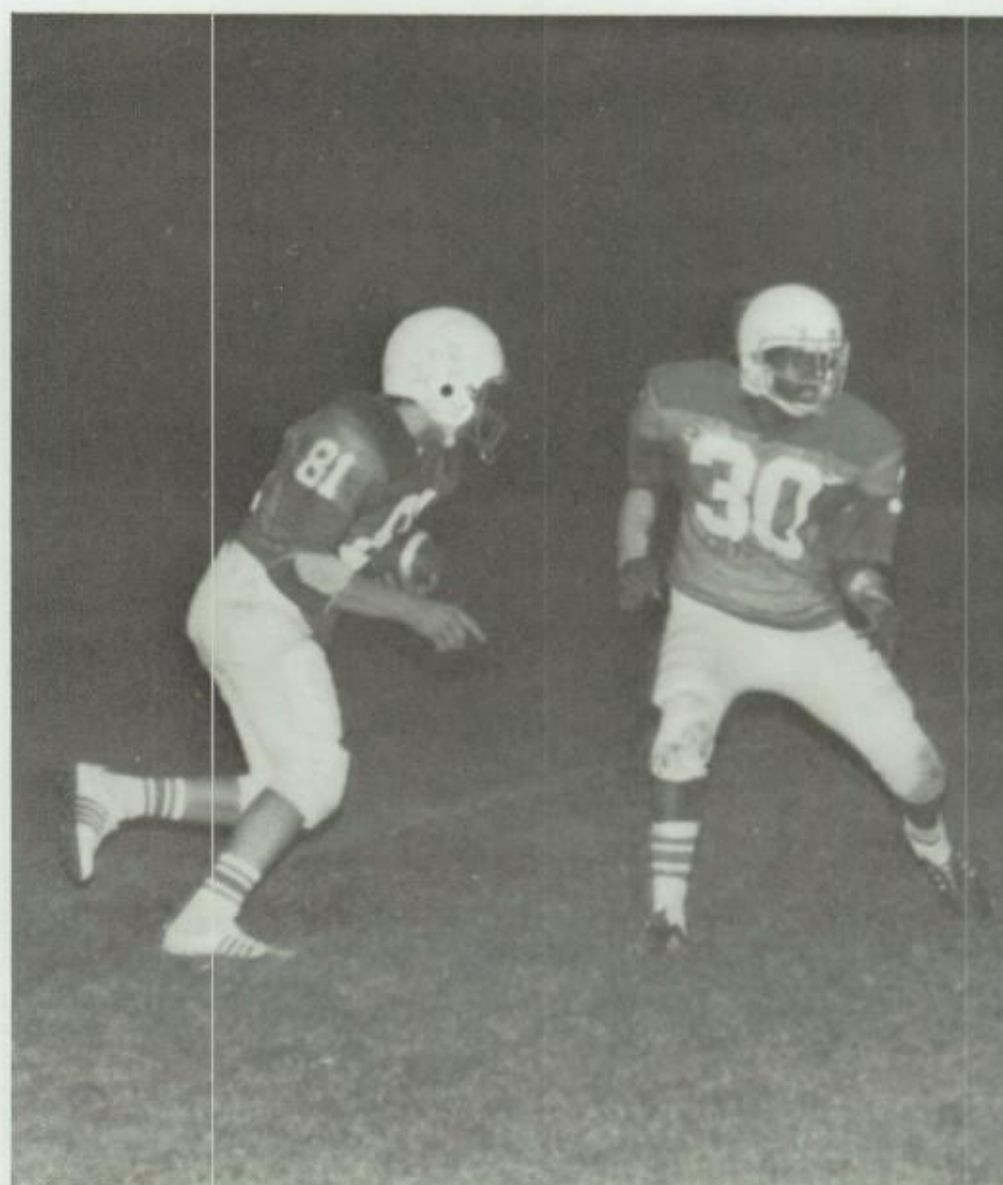

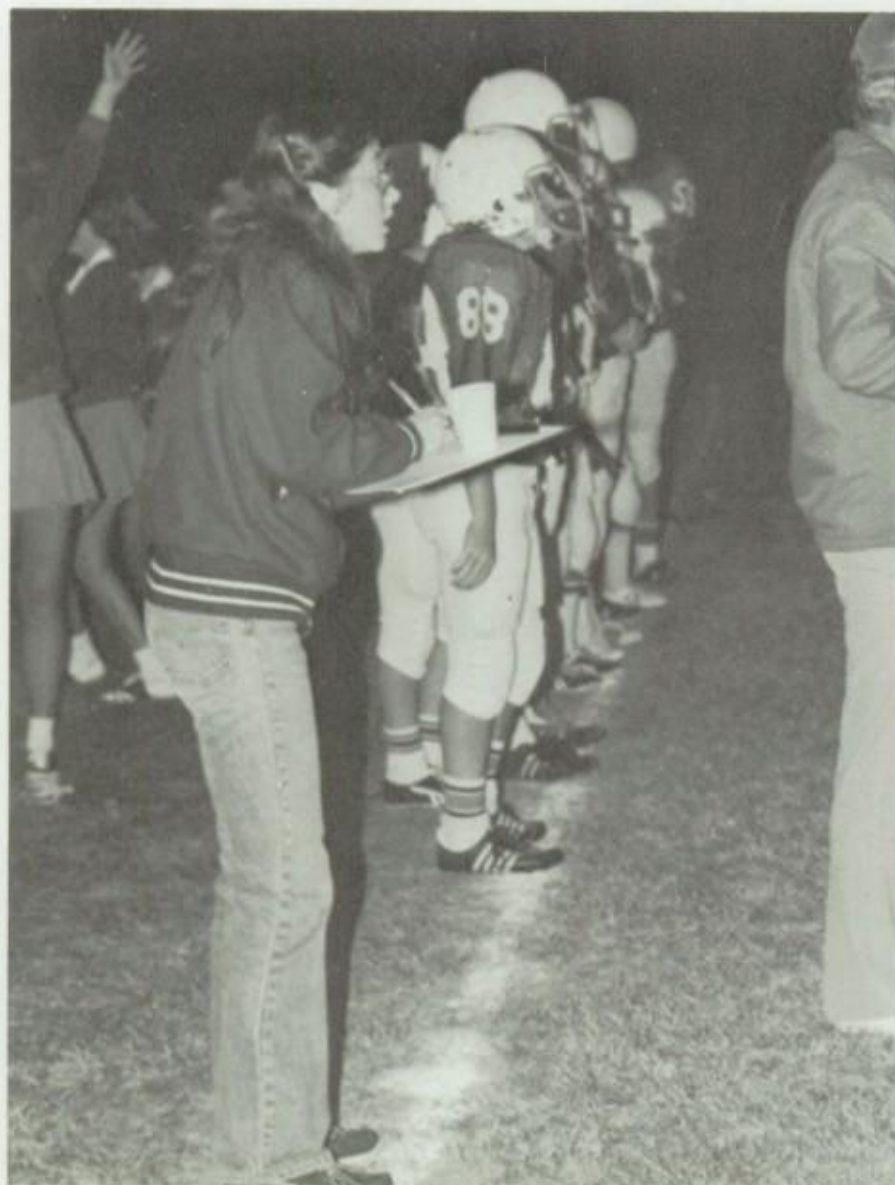

After making an interception, Mark Miller looks for running room.

From the sidelines Cardinal subs watch the action.

After Christ Church turns the ball over, defensive backs Billy Farrar and Wesley Seifert leave the field.

Junior High Squad Posts Disappointing Season

Looking back on a 1-6 season record, the Junior High football coaches cited the lack of depth and experience as basic reasons for their team's poor showing. One bright spot occurred in the season when the team defeated Christ Church by 24-0. The coaches were satisfied that the team improved over the season, and they looked forward to a better year in 1980.

Keeping stats at the game, Sandra Davis watches the action closely.

Running around the right end, Brett Bridges avoids a tackle.

Cardinal Gymnasts Host State Tournament

Showing outstanding strength this year, the gymnastics team earned both individual and team honors. Performances in competitive routines and optionals continued to show improvement as underclassmen on the team developed skills.

For the second time the team sponsored the state championship meet and hosted its fifth annual invitational meet on January 26. At the meets seniors Judy Hefner and Mickie Doar continued to collect top honors for LHS.

Executing a difficult move, Teresia Pierce attempts a handstand on the beam.

Rehearsing her optional routine, Mickie Doar counts to the beat of the music.

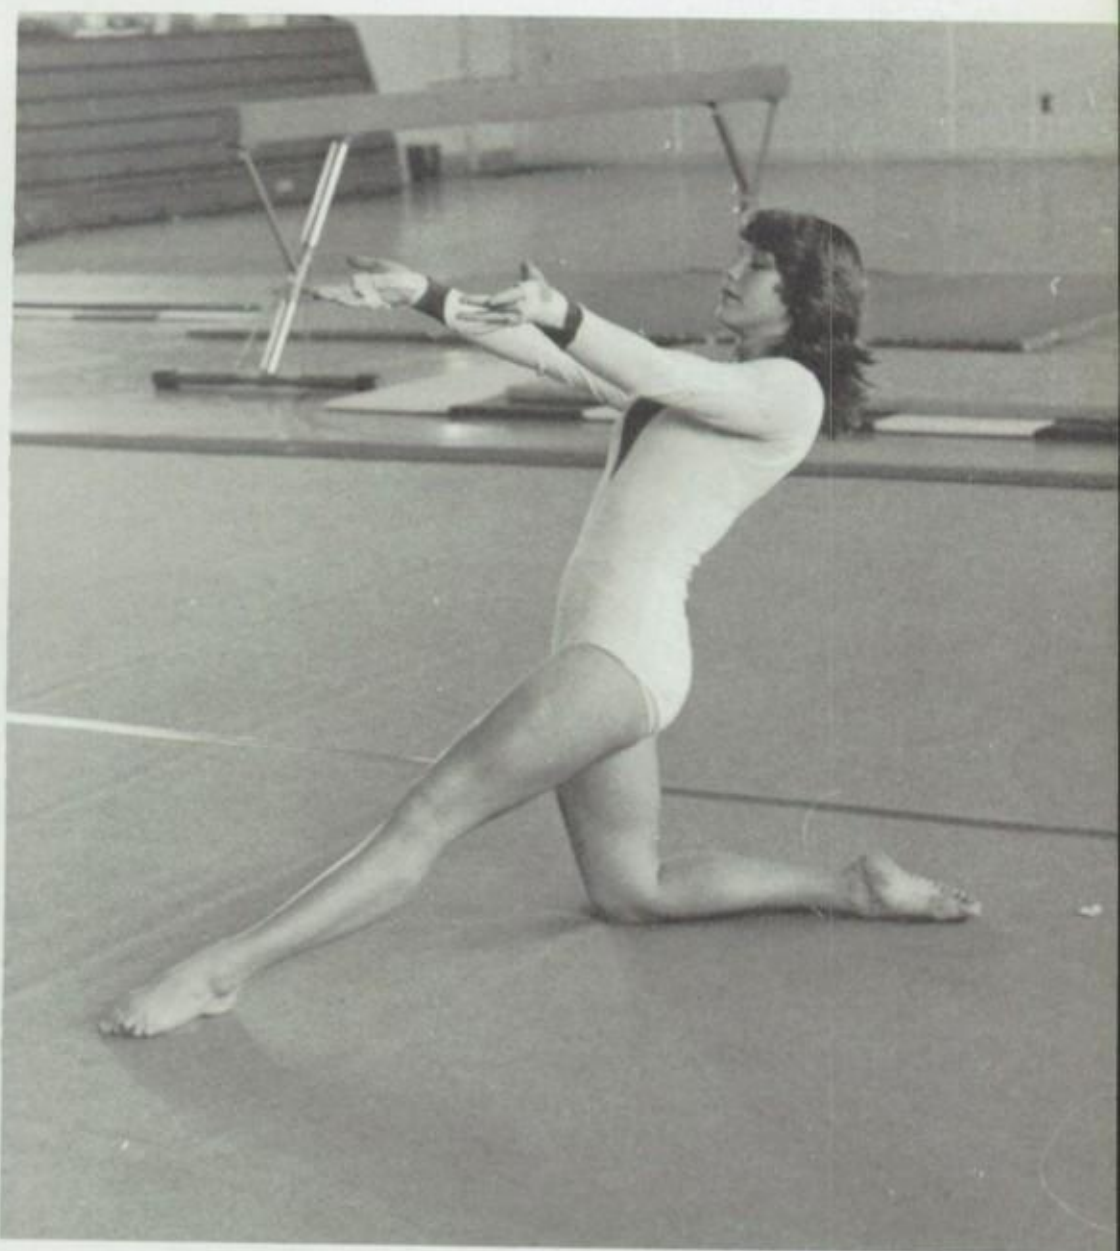

With excellent form, Terry Tanguay demonstrates an arabesque.

Showing flexibility, Cynthia Phillips slides into a split.

Working as a team, Nancy Smith and Tracey West help each other with their floor routine.

Preparing for tough competition in the state meet, Judy Hefner works on her floor exercise.

On the beam, Ame Easlic exhibits balance and flexibility as she masters the split.

Narrow Defeats Stymie Cardinal Cagers

With four of the 1979 starters returning to the varsity boys basketball lineup, the team anticipated a strong showing. Despite predictions, however, the season started slowly as the team lost four of the first six games. Though disappointed with their record, neither the coach nor players were disillusioned, for most of the losses came in overtime play with final score only two or three points apart.

Putting the ball in bounds, J. Miller thinks only of playing good offense.

High in the air, Ricky McDowell tips off for the Cardinals.

Towering over his opponents, Frank McDowell raises his scoring average.

In his usual style, Jimmy Pruitt shoots for two.

Finding an opening in the defense, Tim Thompson takes advantage of his opponent's mistake.

Playing with a broken hand, Ricky McDowell still manages to lead the team in scoring.

Controlling the offensive attack, Jimmy Pruitt brings the ball up court.

Coach Ron Hicks, J. Miller, Neal Brackett, Nelson Edwards, Frank McDowell, Danny Jackson, Ricky McDowell, Jimmy Pruitt, Jeff Bradey, Tim Thompson, Todd Hardin.

Offensive Attack Boosts Scoring Average

A strong offensive attack helped the Running Reds post an average of nearly seventy points per game. The 106 points scored in the Tamassee-Salem game set a school record. According to Coach Hicks, outstanding individual efforts on the court throughout the season contributed to the team's successes.

At the Tryon game Ricky McDowell makes a jump shot.

After evaluating the situation, J. Miller and Jimmy Pruitt set up an offensive play.

Bringing the ball down court, Jimmy Pruitt works his way toward the basket.

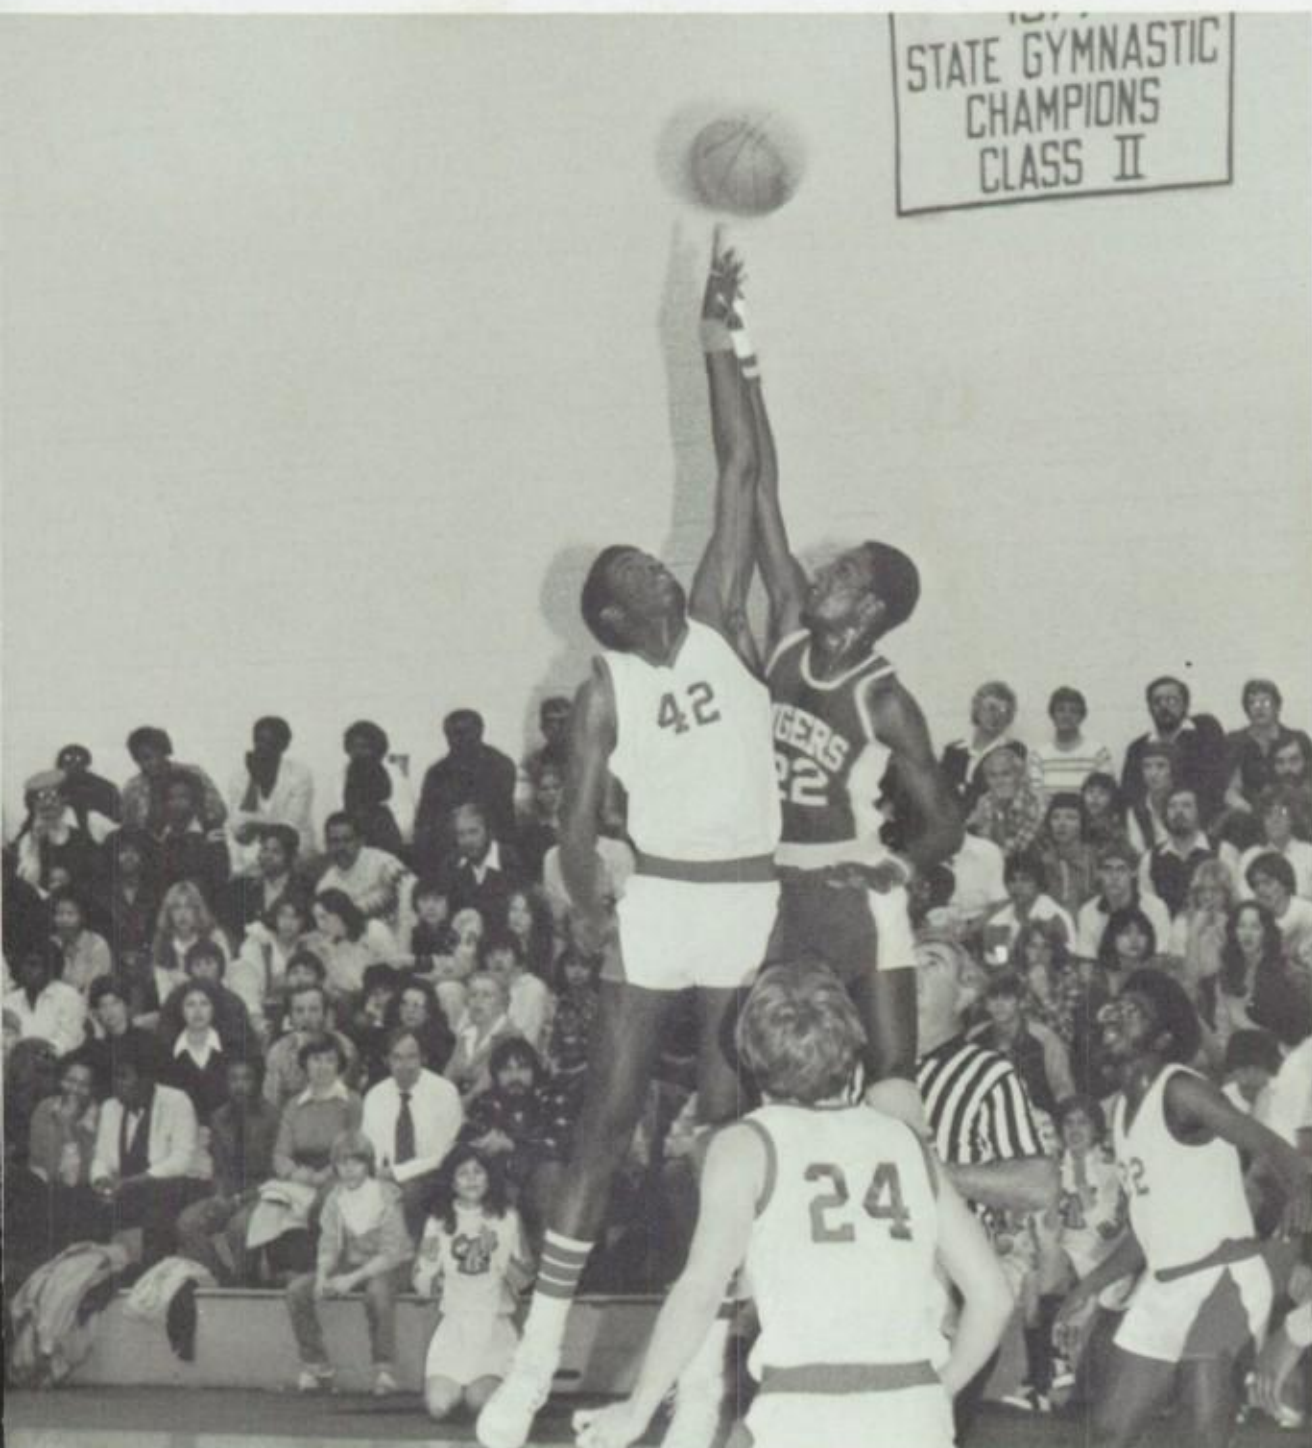

Setting up a tough defense, the Cardinals work to get the ball again.

Attempting a lay-up, Tim Thompson draws a foul.

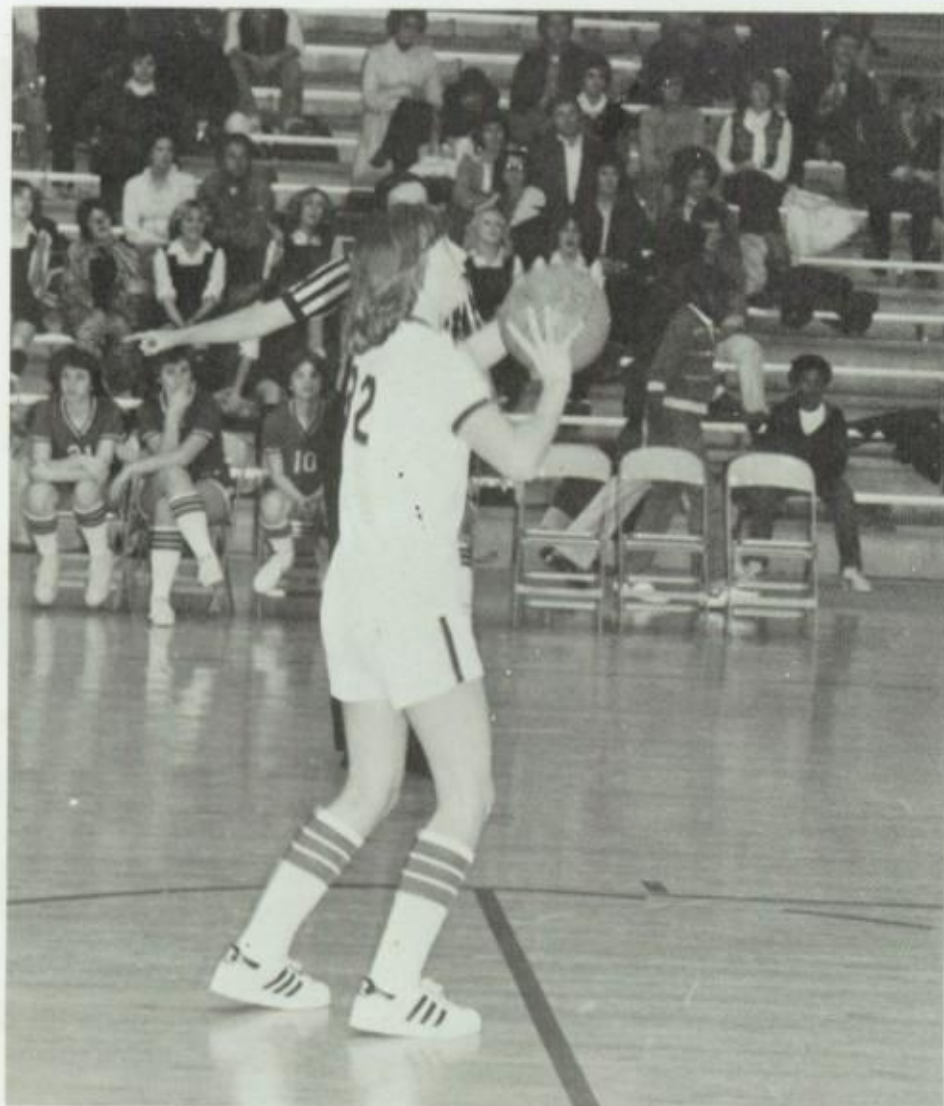

In a one-and-one shot situation, Todd Hardin aims for the basket.

Playing in the Peach Capital Invitational, Frank McDowell shoots for two points.

Before the starting buzzer sounds, the Running Reds warm up.

In the first play of the Tryon game, Ricky McDowell jumps to gain control of the ball.

Rebuilding Dominates Varsity Girls' Season

Loss of players resulting from injury and illness forced the varsity girls basketball team to spend much of the season in a rebuilding effort. The team's high scorer, Ann Walker, led the girls' offensive attack and was one of the area's top ten scorers.

Though the team did not enjoy a winning season, the young players were able to gain valuable experience and showed promise of becoming one of the tough competitors in the conference in future seasons.

At the foul line Lucy Little aims for a perfect shot.

Struggling to reach an open space, Ann Walker drives through the Tryon defense.

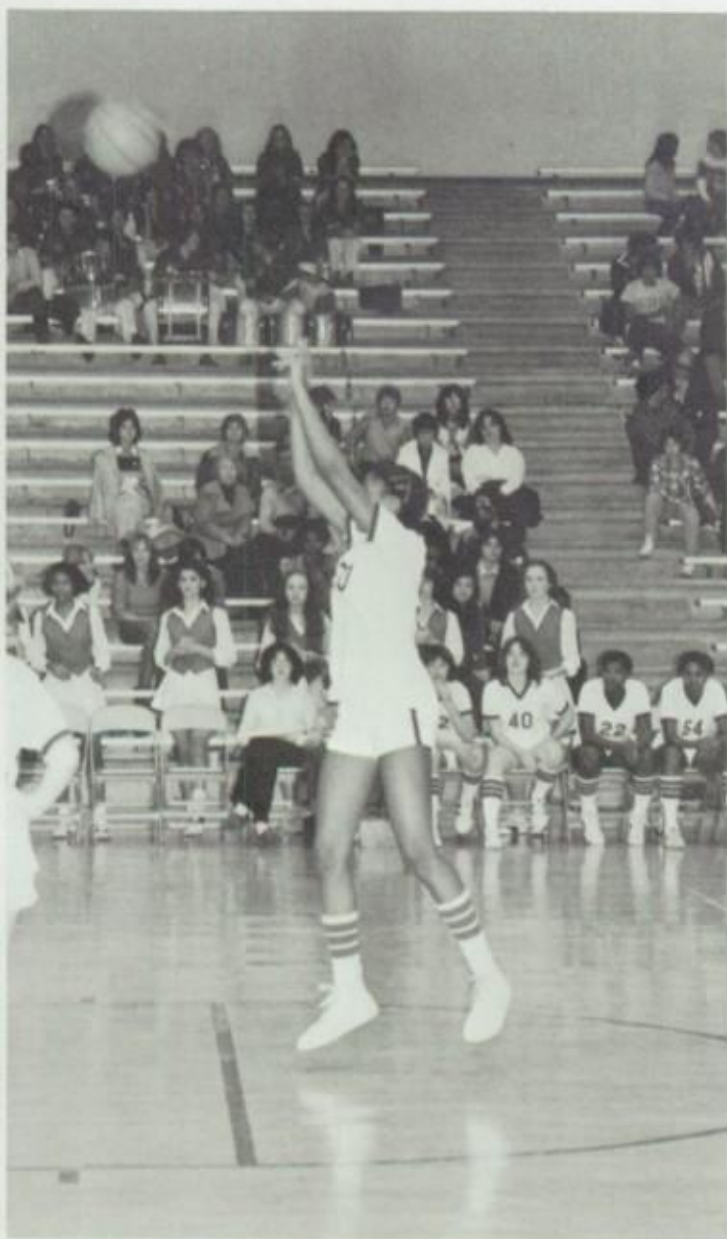

At the point position, Sandra Davis sets up an offensive play.

Under the Cardinal goal, Karen McCarty brings the ball in bounds.

Between quarters the Lady Cardinals plan their strategy.

Shooting a foul shot on her home court, Sharon McDowell adds one to the Cardinal score.

Watching the action on the court, team members and fans anticipate a basket from the offense.

Future Looks Promising For Lady Cardinals

As the season ended, the Lady Cardinals knew they would feel the loss of seniors Ann Walker, Sandra Davis, and Carleen Wooley. Coach Rogers, however, saw potential in her younger players Sharon McDowell, Sonya McDowell, Lucy Little and Marylou Thomson. She looked forward to a strong returning lineup in 1981.

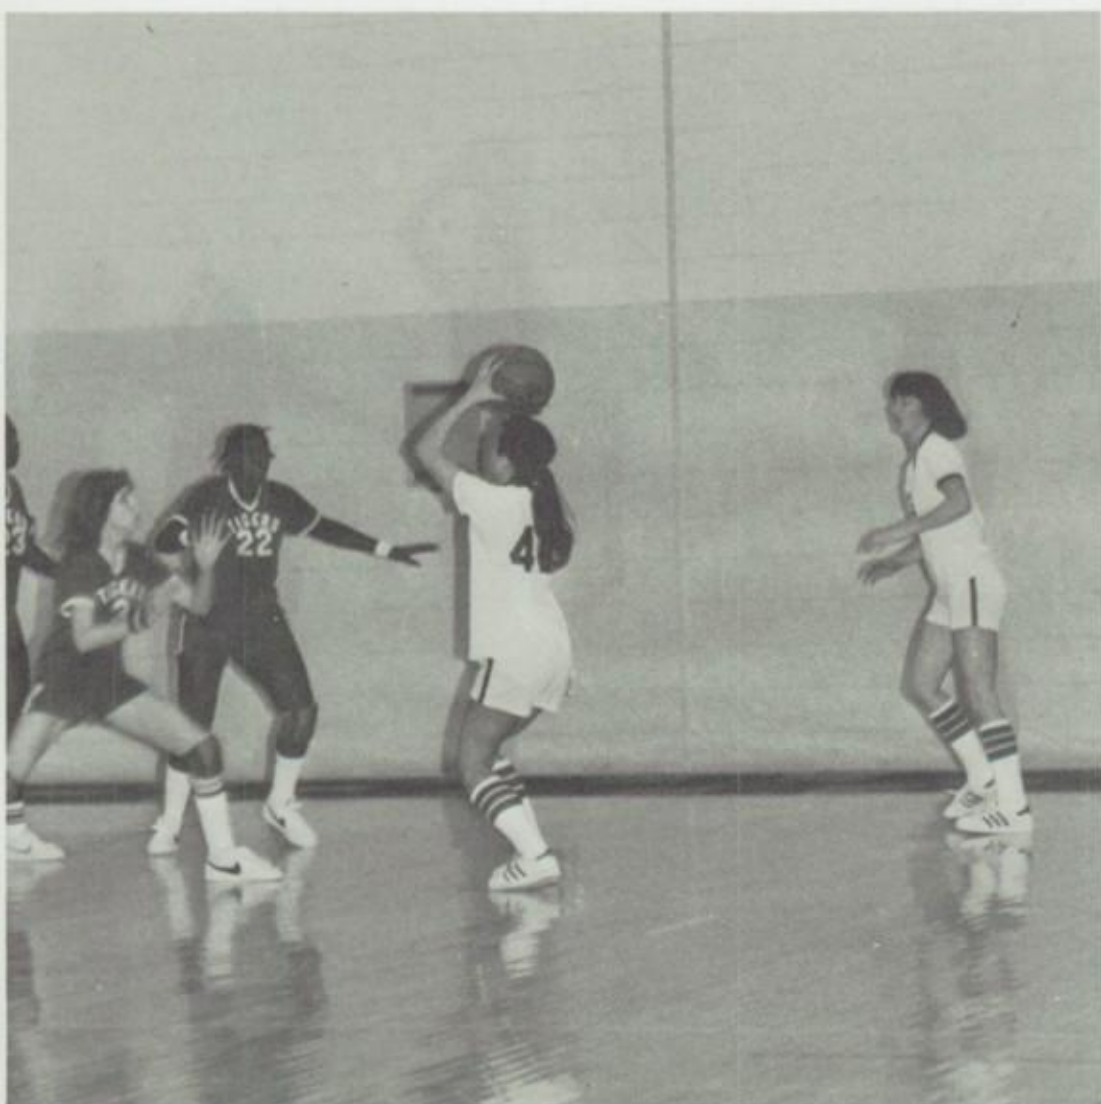

With steady aim, Marylou Thomson shoots from the foul line.

During a time out, Coach Rogers gives the team advice.

Bringing the ball up court, Carleen Wooley puts an offensive play into action.

Driving inside to the goal, Ann Walker completes a lay up.

Against the Tryon defense, Ann Walker shoots from the corner.

Penetrating to the middle, Carleen Wooley looks for an open teammate.

During the Chesnee game, Teresa Simmons leaps to control a jump ball.

Veterans Determine Junior Varsity Victories

With five players returning from last year's team, the junior varsity promised to be a strong conference competitor. After a slow start, the team ended the season with a winning record.

Throughout the season, Barry Bruce directed a fastbreak offense, and much of the scoring came from Jeff Pace and Craig Ruff, post position players. Though the team used multiple defenses, the pressure man-to-man was its basic strategy led by Kelly Cash and Robert Edwards. Coach Ramsey considered lack of depth his most serious problem which led to overtime losses in several games.

Receiving instructions during a timeout, the Cardinals prepare to return to the court.

With the ball above his head, Anthony Greene aims for a free-throw shot.

While his teammates set up their offense, Barry Bruce looks over the defense and prepares his strategy.

Shooting a free-throw, Craig Ruff focuses on the basket.

After driving into the lane, Jeff Pace pulls up and shoots a jump shot.

Jumping at center position, Craig Ruff gets the tip for Landrum.

Shooting from his favorite corner position, Jeff Pace takes deadly aim.

Lack Of Experience Hurts Junior High Boys

Beginning the season with only two junior high players who had had previous playing experience, Coach Moon had a serious handicap to overcome. Though the team suffered a losing season, potential was obviously present among the newcomers, and both players and coach saw tremendous improvement and strong competitive spirit develop over the season.

Dribbling the ball up court, Richard Page sets up a play.

From the top of the key, William Thompson makes a jump shot.

Hoping to improve the score, Mark Coley aims for the basket.

Under the basket, Tony Kemmerlin goes up for a rebound.

Looking for an open teammate, Anthony Glover sets up the offense.

Junior High Girls Work To Overcome Problems

When practice began in October, Coach Coley recognized that the junior high girls faced the same problem with lack of experience that the junior high boys had. During most of the season, the girls worked to learn basic tactics. In spite of their losing record, the team improved throughout the year, and ended the season with the confidence necessary for a winning team in 1981.

Working around a defender, Landa Basham drives for the basket.

Debra Pierce, Julie Bridgeman, Kim Williams, co-captain; Joni Scholl, Roberta Thompson, Shannon Loyless, Andrea Nanney, Landa Basham, captain; Sheila Dill, Bobbi Shehan, Laina Basham, Vicki Jackson, Kathy McCarty.

Cardinals Clinch Conference Baseball Title

Ending the 1979 regular season with an 11-7 record, the baseball team captured the conference title and went to the Upper-State playoffs in May. Four players: Eric McCarty, Jimmy Champion, Nathan Williams and Sammy Fagan earned all-conference recognition, and Coach Steve Coley was named LHS Coach of the Year.

Thinking nothing but strike, Jimmy Champion hurls the ball toward the plate.

Warming up before the Chapman game, Eric McCarty practices his fast ball.

During the Calhoun Falls game, Billy Farrar hits a double.

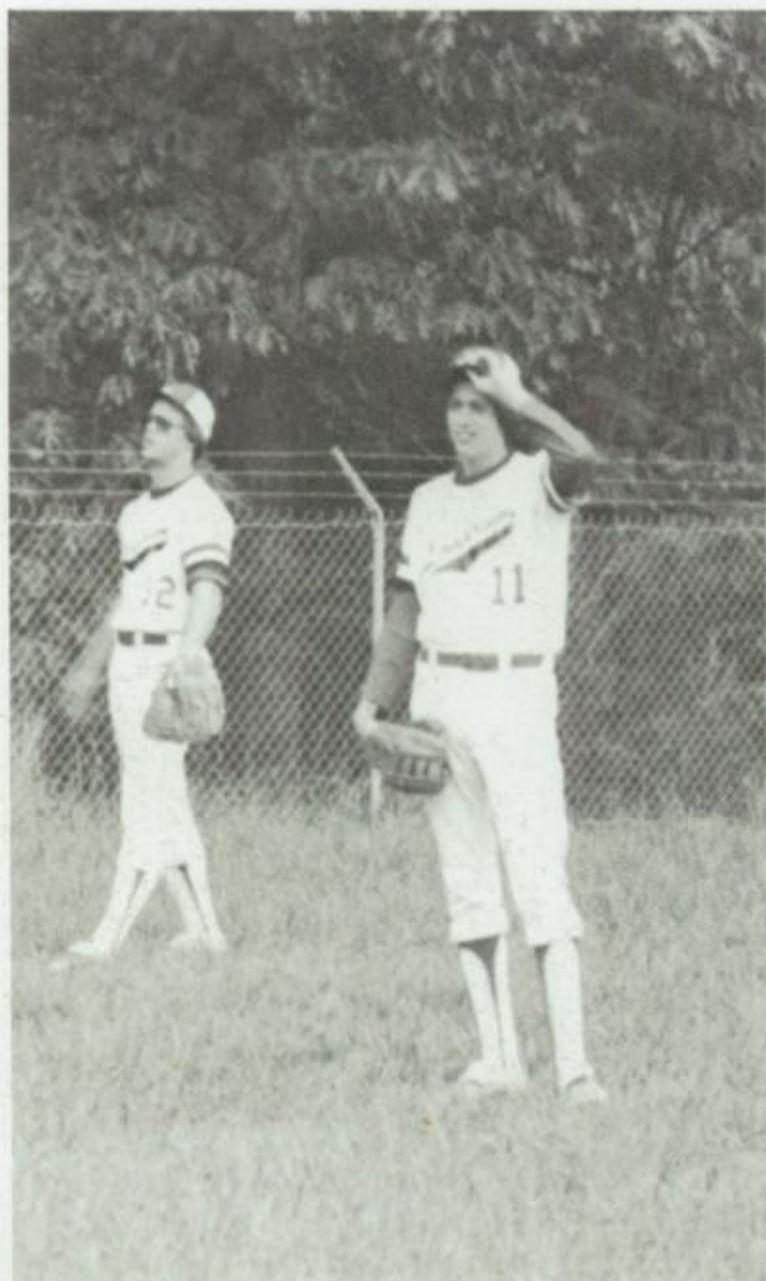

To put the runner out, first baseman Eric McCarty stretches for a throw from the infield.

Waiting their turn at the plate, several Cardinals watch a teammate bat.

At a crucial moment in the Oakway game, Sammy Fagan singles and moves Jimmy Pruitt around the bases.

Strong Pitching Key To Cardinal Defense

In the play-off games the Cardinal nine lost their first game to Lockhart. Though the team came back in the second game with Calhoun Falls, they again went down to defeat in their match with Indian Land. In spite of losses in the play-offs, Coach Coley was satisfied with his team's improvement over the 1978 record. He credited improved pitching and determined player effort for the team's conference championship in 1979.

Preparing for the Christ Church game, Doug Connor and Mark Hardin loosen up for long throws from the outfield.

Waiting for a better pitch, Jimmy Pruitt passes up a high ball.

Throwing to second base, Nelson Edwards tries to pick off a runner.

Hitting a sacrifice bunt, Dean McClure moves Doug Connor to second base.

Four Cardinal Trackmen Attend State Meet

Under Coach Danny McDowell, the 1979 Boys Track Team finished the season with a 9-10 match record and was runner-up in the conference. Five team members represented the school in the State Meet in Columbia and placed seventh among the twenty-five teams participating.

Running the two-mile, Michael Hamrick paces himself steadily.

On the final leg of the 440-relay, Tim Thompson sprints across the finish line to take first place.

Before the start of the 880-sprint, Nelson Edwards, Kelly Cash, Todd King and Jeff Pace receive instructions from the meet director.

Taking the lead in the two-mile, Keith Collins passes his opponents.

At the head of the pack, Danny Jackson strides for the lead.

After throwing the shot, Eric McCarty watches the measurement.

On a soggy track at Broome, Coach McDowell times a Cardinal runner.

Girls Track Team Wins Post-Season Honors

After setting their goal to attend the Conference Track Meet, the eighteen-member Girls Track Team worked to excel. They finished second in the conference in the regular season and won post-season honors in the high jump, the triple jump, the two-mile run, the discus, hurdles and the 440-relay. Coach Rogers was proud of the team's initiative and desire to win. She looked for improvement in the 1980 season.

Completing the first leg of the mile relay, Allison Loyless sends Sandra Horton on with a perfect hand-off.

Heading for a win, Miranda Miller clears the final hurdle.

Setting a steady pace, Terry Tanguay and Melody Ruff begin the 880-run.

On the Chapman track, Allison Loyless takes the lead in the two-mile run.

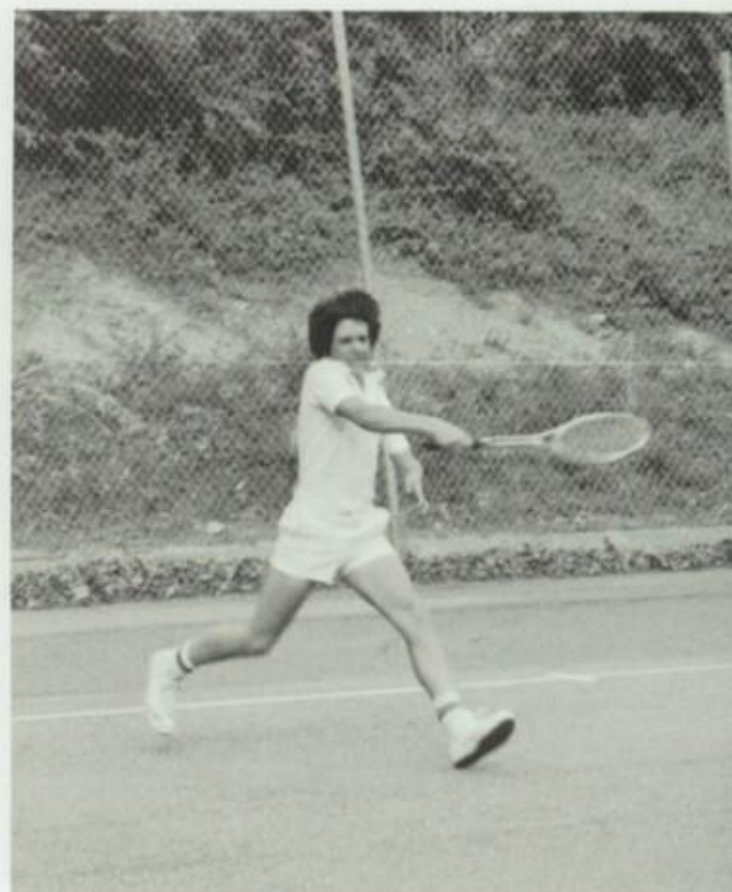

Pushing for a win, Jackie Blanton completes the third leg of a relay.

Concentrating on her stride, Terry Tanguay runs the 880.

Sultans Of Swing Raise Funds For New Courts

Despite a losing season, the 1979 Boys Tennis Team members demonstrated genuine enthusiasm as they ran two miles and exercised daily. During the season, the team adopted a nickname, "The Sultans of Swing." Throughout the year all team members worked on several fund-raising projects to insure the construction of much-needed tennis courts on campus. One successful project the team organized was the 1979 St. Valentine's Dinner-Dance held in the school cafeteria.

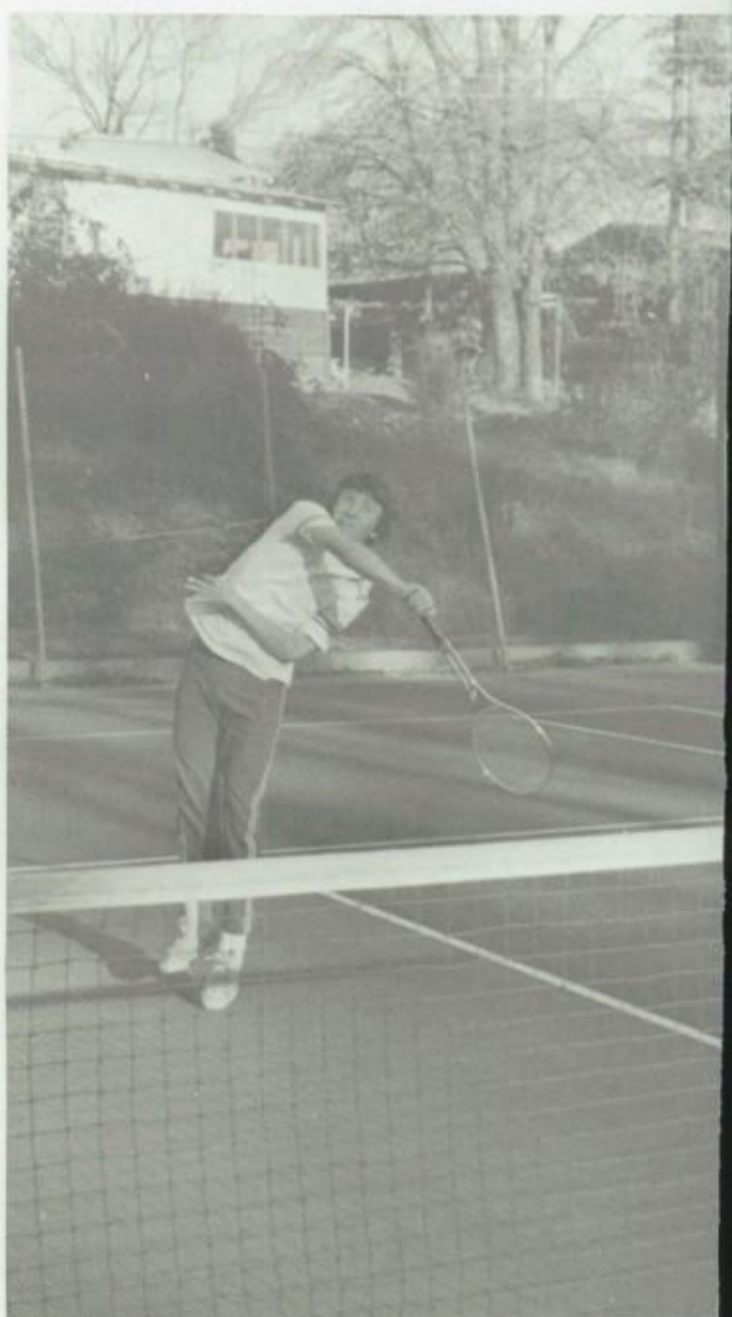

Front: Eric McClure, Lynn Stewart, Billy Thomson, Charles McClure, Jeff Bailey, Tim Waldrop. Back: Keith Turner, Sammy Doar, Joey Brown.

Behind his base line, Wesley Seifert tries to hit an overhead.

Returning the serve, Brett Bridges advances toward the net.

Concentrating on the ball, Jeff Bailey smashes a short lob past his opponent.

Following through, Eric McClure punches a volley deep into his opponent's court.

Blowing a bubble at practice, Joey Brown casually returns a high forehand.

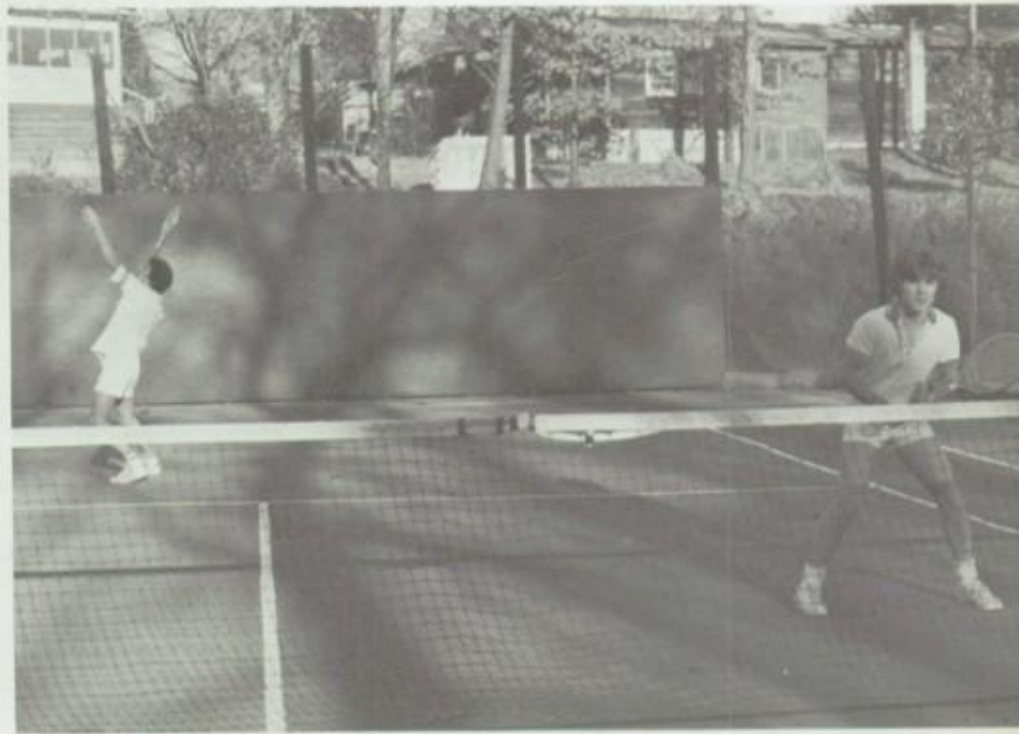

Using a two-hand backhand, Joel Turner returns the serve.

Snapping through his twist serve, Sammy Doar follows the flight of the ball.

Jammed by his opponent's shot, Lynn Stewart manages a successful return.

On the sideline, Coach Cooper signals Billy Thomson to go crosscourt.

Playing doubles with Tim Waldrop, Eric McClure serves the ball.

Girls Tennis Team Travels To State Match

Beginning practice in August for their 1979 season, the girls tennis team worked to insure success in competition. During the summer, two team members attended tennis camp at Clemson.

In spite of their poor season record, two team members made the finals in the conference tournament held in Oakway, and two went to the semi-finals in the state tournament in Columbia.

Marylou Thomson, Julie Staggs, Mickie Doar, Lucy Little, Jody Brown, Sandra Horton, Susanne Williams, Patricia Smith.

Serving, Jody Brown watches as the ball hits in the service court.

Following through on her serve, Patricia Smith concentrates on putting the ball in bounds.

Watching a match, Coach Carolyn Gibson decides what weaknesses are giving her players problems.

Turning her shoulders, Susanne Williams prepares to hit a top-spin backhand.

With typical drive, Marylou Thomson leans into her forehand.

On the Campobello courts. Marylou Thomson goes wide to return the serve while Lucy Little concentrates on the high forehand volley.

Following through to a high finish, Lucy Little demonstrates her powerful backhand.

During a practice drill, Mickie Doar, Jody Brown and Patricia Smith work two-on-one.

Spinning Off! Heading For Tomorrow

Spinning Off! Never Forgetting Yesterday

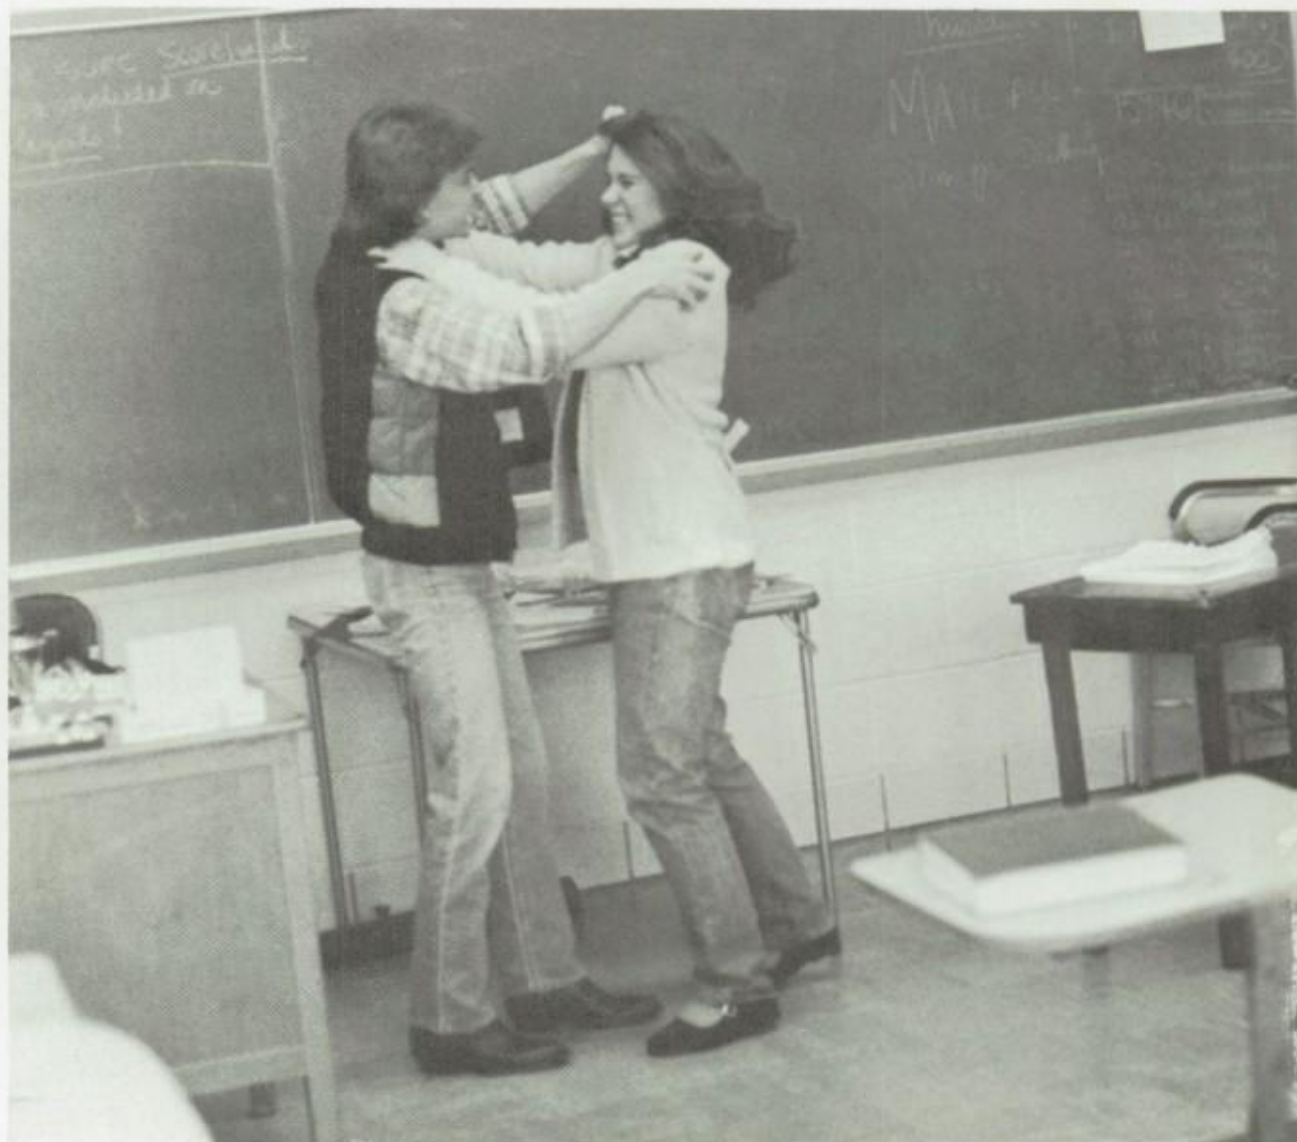

Editors' Note

For us, the co-editors of the 1980 Cardinal, producing a yearbook with a joint editorial effort was a test of patience, will, and the ability to compromise. Early in the year we divided our responsibilities, but we kept in mind our single purpose of producing the best Cardinal ever.

As we saw our efforts come to a climax, we realized that we must not close before thanking the staffers, advisors, faculty members and patrons who have supported us throughout this mind-boggling experience. As always, we appreciate the photographs from Mr. Jim Ashmore and the News Leader which helped us complete the sports and features sections of this volume. Most of all we appreciate the cooperation and help of the entire student body at LHS who made it possible for this edition to "spin off."

Sincerely,

Jenny Rollins

Snake, you
Book looked so empty I just had to fill a page. hope you have a great summer, and thanks for all of your sweet laughs and smiles that you gave
Next year you will be in the tenth grade and I hoped that you get some of those old tad faces that I had for a teacher. This summer don't go out and get in a bunch of trouble may god be with you in everything that you do. I'm sorry so short but it is time for lunch. and next time make sure you put your dog up when ever we are walking.

Love ya

Your friend

Angel

Duake, it has been so nice knowing you, & I believed you nice small little guy I have ever seen. Hope that you have a really good summer which I'm sure you will.
I wish you lots of ~~lots~~ luck next year.

Best of wishes
Duak.

Drake

its hard to say what I really want to say well anyway starting with this summer. when I first met you, an that was when we were playing softball an I got mad a quit remember that I am sure that you do, well anyway to what I am about to ~~say~~ say an that is

Drake I am really glad that I got to know you this summer that is because of all the good times that we had an me telling you about everyone. here an ~~you~~ you telling me about your friends an family remember when you ask me the age of Roberta an when I told you that she was -- years old you was surprise an didn't know what to say. and then after that you told me what some of the guys said they would do if they had a chance that to go with her. remember that I am sure you remember don't you. and then after all of that I asked you did you have any brothers and you said yes that you had three of them and I ask you there ~~was~~ age and when you told me remember I almost had a heart attack and you just grin and then laugh. I like remember at the park when you brought your year book for me to look at and I saw that picture of you dress like a girl and you said that they tricked you into doing it and then you laugh about it. well and then after that we went and played a game of tether ball and I kept beating you remember that and then you got mad or either jealous one of them right? right. well anyway on to more of what I have to say and that is that I have really enjoyed getting to know you this year.

and I hope that we can always be friend. no matter what happens. O.K.

chake in this time of writing I wouldn't put somethings in like the time that me ya an Jackie was talking in front of her aunts house remember what happen that day.
I know ya do. but if ya don't just come an ask me alright. because I will be more than glad to tell ya so that I can laugh about it. Hahaha XK, and also tell ya some more stuff that ya told me that day.
I am pretty sure ya know what I am talking about don't ya. yes you do - I sure. but then again if ya don't just come to me an I will refresh ya remember now.

well its time to say good-bye now it was nice writing this to you (bye)

Love ya

Drake,

How's life treating you? forget all that I just wanted to write you down a few lines and let you know that I'll always be thinking of you somewhere in the back of my mind you've been a great friend and I won't forget you not at all. Drake I wish you wouldn't file that paper that me and Tammy signed because no telling where we'll be in ten years. I hope I'll see you this summer when I move to Chesnee you'd better write me at least once a month I'll give you my address.
and I hope you stop being so naughty.
(Just kidding) I hope your dream comes true about going back to California but wherever I am be sure and tell me.
I hope you have a successful future ahead of you and also a very happy life stay sweet and may god bless you and
